THE ATTORNEY GENERAL'S TELEGRAM

For some days the air has been thick with rumors in regard to a dispatch said to have been received by Hon A. C. Gibbs, U S District Attorney from Attorney General Williams on the subject of the prosecutions against the corruptionists of this city The substance of these rumors is found in the following extract from an editorial article in the Evening News of Saturday, the fifth instant

One day last week the U S District Attorney in this District was the recipient of a long the telegram from Washington signed by Attorney General Williams to the effect that it be the District Attorney pushed in urging the indictment and prosecution of persons accused of violating the election law in the recent election he would be removed from his office

The News claimed to have received information of the receipt of this dispatch from a member of the Custom House ring of this city who claimed to be posted as to the sending of the dispatch by the Attorney General

There has been some telegraphic correspondence between District Attorney Gibbs and Attorney General Williams on the subject mentioned but not such as stated by the informant of the News It is evident the ring man who told the editor of the News about the dispatch, made it what the ring would like to have had it rather than what it was District Attorney Gibbs, naturally wishing to prevent the misconstruction of the Attorney General which is likely to prevail if this misstatement of the case is permitted to go uncontradicted, has permitted us to make public the dispatch of the Attorney General and his answer thereto

The Attorney General's dispatch is as follows:

WASHINGTON, D C, Nov 27 1873

To A. C Gibbs, Esq, U S Attorney Portland Oregon—I am advised that you have obtained an order for a new grand jury at this term of the court to be summoned in an unusual manner You are instructed to move to rescind such order greatly increasing the expenses of the term. I am satisfied the regular grand juries can do the business of the court Take no action before such jury until you have reported to me the necessity for this extraordinary proceeding and expense

GEO H WILLIAMS,
Attorney

This dispatch did not reach the District Attorney till Saturday evening Nov 29th, he being absent from the city when it arrived As soon after its receipt as possible, namely on Monday morning Dec 1st, Mr Gibbs made the following report of the case to the Attorney General by telegraph

PORTLAND, Oregon, December 1, 1873

Hon George H Williams, Attorney-General, Washington D C: Your telegram was received late Saturday night

In reply I have to say, that it was proven before the last Grand Jury that a state of bribery and rape then was inaugurated in this District at the late Congressional election when was shown by a majority proof that the District Attorney pushed in urging the indictment and prosecution of persons accused of violating the election law in the recent election he would be removed from his office

The court amended the order by ordering that he should select fifty names from the assessment rolls of this and adjoining counties from which a jury may be selected to meet to-morrow.

Should any grand jury so found and representations have been made to you to prevent their meeting and they may be ordered as a last resort of corruptionists, to prevent prosecutions and cover up rascality More by letter

A. C. GIBBS, U. S. Att'y

Receiving no further direction in the premises, Mr Gibbs went on with the discharge of his duties as the case plainly demanded

It is evident from these dispatches taken together, and from the fact that, upon receiving Mr. Gibbs' telegraphic report, the Attorney General did not interfere any further in the matter, he has been misled and deceived by false dispatches from the bribers' ring, and did not fully comprehend the situation of affairs when he sent his dispatch, and that as soon as he was advised by Mr. Gibbs of the real state of the case, he desires to have the prosecution pushed At least this is a fair inference from all the facts. It cannot be supposed the Attorney General would exercise his official power to obstruct the administration of justice in this city, the suspicion of question, taken in connection with subsequent facts, do not necessarily prove that he has attempted to do so

THE NATIONAL UNIVERSITY

The recommendation of the President in his message to Congress that a National University be established at Washington, is not the first mention of the subject Bills have heretofore been introduced, in several instances, providing for the establishment of such an institution. But the subject seems just at this time to be agitating the public mind at and about the National Capital to a very considerable degree The discussion has been waxing earnest for some time and the President simply takes side in a controversy that was going on around him when he penned his recommendation. Professor Eliot makes an elaborate argument against the proposition and by so doing gets himself into the newspapers where he is received at length and in one or two of them, is handled without gloves

The supporters of the policy of building up such an institution at the capitol take for their text the declaration of Professor Agassiz that there is not a university in the United States, and proceed to urge the claims for a seat of learning to which our young men may go with the assurance of obtaining as good opportunities for a thorough education as if they went to the great Universities of Europe It is urged that only persons of considerable wealth can afford to give their sons a high education, because in order to do so it is necessary that they be sent to mother environment and not attended there during the course of their studies This looks like crowding the matter a little Only the few persons who intend to fit their boys to the prosecution of certain particular branches of science, fail to find sufficient educational facilities in the colleges of this country and these pursuing that general course that themselves with the

THE IOWA FAMINE

It is difficult to believe that in a year of most bountiful harvests in one of our most populous States a large community is threatened with utter extinction by starvation This is true however, of a little colony of ex Union soldiers in Osceola county, Iowa The sufferings of these pioneer settlers, as detailed by one of them in a letter, are really frightful One year ago the crops were abundant Encouraged by the success of that harvest, the farmers sowed this year an extraordinarily large area of ground to small grain But a backward spring, and the grasshopper plague destroyed the greater part of the growing grain Hundreds left the immediate section last summer in anticipation of the dreadful hardships of a rigorous winter But there were hundreds also who had expended their all in seed time These were compelled by such cruel necessity to remain in the desolate land with the awful certainty of death unless relief should be afforded by the charitable As we have said a majority of the sufferers are Union soldiers, who have pre-empted Government land with the intention of providing homes for their families In the Boston Advertiser of a recent date we find the annexed story of starvation and want, as told by one of these soldier settlers

"When the grasshoppers took the crops we did the best we could for the coming winter We went to the lakes and caught barrels of fish but we did not have the means to properly care for them, so they spoiled Stock was sacrificed to the sharks that infest our section at the next to nothing of a price and many of us have thus eaten up and worn out the horses and work cattle that had been our mainstay We could buy no fuel, and when it left, twisted hay and rank reed grass were the only fuel nine tenths of the people were using. Much sickness prevails, brought on by a long abstinence from wholesome and nutritious food One family I know of has the father down with the rheumatism three out of the six children were down with the measles while the mother was about worn down herself Corn meal grated from frost-bitten nubbins was the only food in the house, if the sod and board shanty may be called such The people bear with each other and mutually extend aid as much as possible One young man from Jasper county who happens to be a good shot, has valiantly taken upon himself the task of keeping all invalid families supplied with meat wild game—and all the day I left town, he came home and ducks to the family I have mentioned But that will end with cold weather You want to know what they need? They need everything—fuel clothing and provisions The women and children are suffering greatly already for the want of clothing I know of several women who died soon after giving birth to children, because they could not have even the common luxury of a cup of tea or anything nutritious to aid them in regaining strength coupled with the want of proper bed covering The most of the counties can extend no aid for the reason that thieves have been running affairs and have stolen all just as they did some years ago in Clay county. Many families will leave or have left having sold their cattle or horses to keep them alive Some general way of relieving these who must remain must be put in operation right away else the first storm of cold weather will send many a poor man, woman, or child, to death—frozen, because they will be so weak and emaciated that they cannot stand the rigors of winter, even in its weakest appearance"

It is of course to be expected that these famishing settlers will be supplied with all things needful out of the abundance with which neighboring communities have been blessed But the spectacle of a whole community in danger of death from starvation and want of clothing is something almost entirely new in this favored country.

A dispatch to the Iowa Tribune says that the Adjutant General of Iowa has sent Surgeon Hicks of Osceola county The railway companies have offered to transport all contributions free of charge Singularly enough, our Eastern dispatches only tend to inform us of the state of affairs in Osceola county

Yesterday the fire hydrant on the corner of Sixth & Pine streets was still flooding the street with water notwithstanding the matter had been brought forcibly to the notice of the Chief Engineer through the OREGONIAN and we were informed by personal notice also that the contractor for the hydrant that were burst by the freezing out of doors, would be when the work should be commenced The loss of the hydrant to the city may be supplemented by a bill for water by water meter the per year for the use of the hydrant from the time of the freezing to the present time at the rate of water drawn as provided in the bill

The Daily Oregonian.

TUESDAY MORNING DECEMBER 9 1873

CITY.

DIFFICULTIES OF NAVIGATION.—Serious obstacles still beset the navigation of the upper and lower Columbia. Since about last Friday no boat has been able to ascend the Cascades above the mouth of the Willamette. Navigation on the lower river is difficult, and at best with a degree of peril although boats continue to make irregular trips. The steamer Vancouver has not been able to reach Vancouver for several days. The Dalles is now the head of navigation, where the Willamette debouches into the Columbia, and formed quite solidly so that a boat cannot make its way through. The waters of the Willamette being of a higher temperature than the Columbia, the ice becomes rotten, and breaks away by the movement of the currents of the two streams, and leaves a clear space. Through this opening the boat can enter the Columbia and cross to the eastern shore, from the landing point communication with Vancouver can be had by land. Clear all the way from the mouth of the Willamette to the Dalles the lordly Columbia is chased and jammed with masses of detached and stationary ice, rendering navigation totally out of the question. Abatement of the present cold weather and the disappearance of the snow are the only changes which can remove the existing blockade.

BIG LIAR.—The editor of the Salt Lake Tribune, who is constantly haunted with shadows and spectres or big feet (from being compelled to look at his own) in speaking of our late shake up, says: The earthquake in Oregon the other day was occasioned by a Portland belle putting her foot down. That is a false imputation which every fair lady in this country will resent with indignation. Why he should wander so far away from a locality where nervous pedal extremities are the rule rather than the exception is one of the mysteries. If that editor would keep his own bunions well pared down, and throw an elevator to bring the dimensions of his feet within the ample limits of his sanctum, and devote his leisure moments to writing homilies on the evils of wearing tight boots, we opine he would have less time to expatiate on the average Webfoot. Two square yards are supposed to be necessary to enable an average Chinaman to stand comfortably on Mr. Country! when the populace surge to and fro what an earthquake there must be!

NOT RETURNED.—Sleighing affords a deal of genuine sport and enjoyment just now but like any other pleasure it has its drawbacks. Since the snow descended and partially blockaded the thoroughfares the street cars have been compelled to suspend their regular trips. The snow has covered the track, and the crossing and re-crossing, of a hundred sleighs or more have obliterated every vestige of the track. Add to this the freezing and thawing alternations, and it is next to impossible to run the cars. The disadvantage consists in the fact that every person cannot afford to enjoy the luxury of a dash on runners. Editors, reporter and other poor people can't stand such an expense while the rich can. A few cents will enable one to take a ride on the street cars. Now the street cars don't run, the rich are dashing merrily around in cutters, and poor devils are obliged to foot it about the streets. And yet they tell us this is a free country, why can't we have free rides in the bargain?

MR. GILBERT'S LECTURE.—The second lecture of the course to be delivered at the First Congregational Church will be given to-morrow evening by W. B. Gilbert, Esq. This gentleman has chosen for his subject that of "Life in Venezuela." The lecture contains a narrative of events connected with the Williams College Natural History Expedition to South America. Mr. Gilbert was a member of that expedition, or rather of that division of it which landed in Venezuela, explored the table lands about Caracas and Valencia, and then crossed the continent by way of the Apure, the Orinoco the Negro and the Amazon. The lecturer will treat, among other things of the people of Venezuela their customs and some Life of Venezuela revolutions, of modes of travel, of animal and vegetable life on the great rivers of the interior. The lecturer is regarded as a young attorney of fine abilities, a gentleman of ripe scholarship and a pleasant and fluent speaker.

GRECIAN LECTURE.—Rev. Thos. Condon will deliver the first lecture of his series tonight (Tuesday) at Masonic Hall. The lecture will commence at 7:30 o'clock and close by 9. This course or series of lectures will be delivered in response to a petition numerously signed by our citizens a short fifty days ago requesting Mr. Condon to deliver a course of lectures on the subject of Geology, commencing with the first principles of the science and to follow it up as succeeding lectures, advancing as the class progresses to the highest point attainable. At present there are about sixty persons in the class. No better opportunity could be afforded to enable persons to acquire a pretty thorough understanding of the subject of Geology. All persons who possess a taste for this interesting and wonderful science should improve the opportunity.

REPAIRING.—A number of persons we learn are engaged in putting up and repairing the telegraph between this city and the Dalles on the O. S. N. Co.'s line. This line has been prostrated for a number of days by the heavy snow storm on the mountains. All information in that direction has been cut off, and nothing can be learned from east of the mountains as to the state of the weather. In so many places has the line been down that it was impossible to transmit messages in any direction. By last evening it was expected that the line could be got in operating condition. This will be a great relief both to the Company and the public generally. Intelligence from east of the mountains after some days delay, when navigation is closed, will be most welcomely received.

CAUGHT A SAILER.—This steamer was engaged in discharging her cargo of coal at the Gas Company's dock all during Sunday afternoon and most of the night. It was for the purpose enabling her to receive a load yesterday and to get out of the river at possible, ere the channel of the lower Columbia became impossible. Yesterday forenoon a considerable quantity of freight was hurriedly placed on board and the steamer started for Astoria. She is bound for Sitka and way ports. What success will attend her efforts to get to sea can not be conjectured but it is thought the steamer will hardly be able to force a passage through the ice down the river.

RACIAL.—About 6 o'clock last evening a teamster made desperate efforts to force a pair of horses to draw a wagon heavily laden with cord wood up the roadway from the Stark street ferry. He failed to make any headway, until several men lent a helping hand and it then proved a difficult matter for the poor animals to pull the load up the steep incline. This is only a single instance of the kind and some means should be taken to prevent any more scenes of like character. A horse prepared for service should be provided each day which could be attached to the heavily burdened team and thus secure an easy passage up the steep grade.

SELF SEEKING.—S. M. Holder the unfortunate stranger who fell from the wharf on Saturday is still at the city jail. Since first brought in he has never spoken a word eaten or drank a mouthful and has remained totally unconscious all the time. During the time he has been lying at the jail several hundred persons have called to see him but not one knew or had ever seen him before. He seems to be a stranger in a strange land. At this hour last evening he was sinking slowly. But gradually. His recovery is regarded as hopeless and he will probably expire before morning.

VESSELS ARRIVED.—Four vessels that have been observed and are probably now moored in or being off the bar crossed over safely on Sunday afternoon and are lying at Astoria. Two of these vessels are known—the Loch Dee which has come last year and the St. Michaels. The names of the other two are not known. All are under charter to carry away cargoes of grain.

NOT RETURNED.—Several days ago the steamer Wasco Harvest not being able to reach the Cascades, was dispatched down the river with a heavy cargo of grain to be placed on board the Columbia lying at a late hour last evening she had not returned. Cause of detention is ubtless the floating ice.

NAVIGATION.—The Newspaper Bark [illegible] which has been lying at Ash Island [illegible] weeks discharging ballast was towed to St. Helens on Sunday. When the latter place was reached late in Sunday night it was deemed prudent to lay up for the night. Early the following morning the ice was found to have formed in such quantities during the night about the vessel that she was again partly abandoned by the Lizzie Hall. She will remain at St. Helens until the weather moderates. She has coal and a full deck load of ballast. Meantime while the vessel is lying there the necessary dunnage will be obtained. On arriving at this port she will be required to leave all the small quantity of ballast on board and receive the cargo of grain.

AFTER HIM.—Mr. W. L. Garrison livery keeper at McMinnville came to the city yesterday in search of Wm. Stanley who had procured the use of a saddle horse of Mr. Garrison's and had on the 2d inst. Stanley left for Portland and sold the horse to Mr. N. W. Lewis of the Dalles for $50 and then made himself scarce. Mr. Garrison identified the animal in Mr. Lewis's possession who promptly turned it over to its owner. Mr. Garrison has given a full description of the miscreant, Stanley to Chief Lappeus and hopes to bring the rascal to justice.

ON THE SOUND.—Commodore Speths and Gen. Michler are now over on the Sound officially inspecting the lighthouses in that portion of the district. They will probably return to this city in a few days. Before going northward these gentlemen started south intending to reach the lighthouse at Cape Disappointment and then proceed along up the coast by steamer. They succeeded in reaching Olympia but meeting the heavy storms could not proceed further for the present and returned to Portland.

WORK FINISHED.—Notwithstanding the present cold weather work in connection with the channel of the upper Columbia is still being vigorously prosecuted. The Columbia is quite low now and the rapidity with which the water pours through the rugged channel prevents the formation of ice and enables the men to work advantageously. Already the work is finished at Deval's Bend, and the men have begun work at Umatilla Rapids.

TOO MUCH EXCITED.—A young man who assumed the position of bridegroom at a recent wedding, became so earnest in his endeavors to get a sufficiency of kisses that he exceeded the bounds of propriety and actually kissed the groom! We will not state the precise locality or the names of the parties immediately concerned but leave the subject to the prayerful consideration of the aforesaid young man's numerous friends.

RULE OF PRACTICE.—It was ordered in the Circuit Court Saturday that the following be adopted as a rule of practice. Rule 20.—Objections or exceptions to reports of referees must be in writing and must be filed with the Clerk within five days after the party entitled to except shall be served with a copy of a motion to confirm the report or with written notice of the filings of the report.

BARK WINDWARD.—This vessel was passed on Sunday, some distance below the mouth of the Willamette, by the Astoria boat. She was endeavoring to make her way down to St. Helens, where a deck load of lumber was to be received. But little headway was gained against the ice and the prospects were quite favorable for the Windward to get frozen up in the river.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station of Observation, Portland Oregon, December 8, 1873.

	7 A M	2 P M	9 P M
Thermometer	27°	41°	39°
Wind direction	Calm	N	N
Wind velocity miles per hour	0	12	12
Weather	Clear	Clear	Clear
Rainfall			.0.00 inches

TWO VESSELS OFF.—Capt. Gilman who arrived from down the river last evening, informs us that two vessels were seen lying off the bar. One of these vessels had gone into Baker's Bay during the present stress of weather. On Sunday the tug started out to bring one of the vessels in but what success attended the effort is unknown.

FAILED.—The Hyde steamer Mary Williams essayed to cross the Columbia river on Sunday opposite the mouth of the Willamette. Ice was found in such quantities on the Columbia that after several unsuccessful attempts to cross on it the project was abandoned. The steamer was obliged to return to the city late in the evening.

SPECIAL TERM.—Owing to considerable business remaining untouched on the Circuit Court docket which should have been disposed of at the past term of court a special term has been ordered by Judge Upton. This special term will be held on the 21st of the present month. It will be held for one day, unless otherwise ordered.

STYLISH.—Our regular correspondent at the above place writing under date of the 8th says: Frozen up once more here in the Columbia still floats, but with such weather it will soon close. Thermometer this (Monday) morning at 7 A. M. fourteen degrees with N. W. velocity moderate. Log on the river.

PRACTICE.—Yesterday, while enjoying the pleasures of skating on the beautiful sheet of ice formed in Cole's Lake Mr. Chas. B. Talbot accidentally fell and sustained several bruises besides it is thought a fracture of the jaw. He is at present confined to his room and hopes are entertained for his early recovery.

SIX DAYS MORE.—A gentleman just from Tacoma informs us that track laying is moving forward with all possible speed. Unless some unexpected detention of the work should occur, the anticipation is to have the track completed and cars running through to Tacoma by the last of the present week.

NOT FINISHED UP.—Since Mr. W. H. Batts, who has the contract for filling up a portion of Couch's Lake, met with a severe accident about two weeks ago the dirt train has ceased to run. The season has so far advanced now that further operations will probably be suspended until next spring.

INSANE.—A man named Ross residing in Vancouver. His records have been examined and adjudged insane. Yesterday the sheriff of the county started with him for the asylum at Steilacoom.

GONE TO SEA.—The steamer Ajax arrived at Astor a late on Saturday night and was not able to proceed to sea until Sunday afternoon. She succeeded in crossing the bar without any trouble.

Rufus Chapman of Liberty Mills, had a stiff knee joint at the knee limbered and straightened by the use of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment.

The Cook Room of the Body

The food that has been cooked in the kitchen must be recooked in the stomach before it can be applied to the nourishment of the body. As a means of facilitating this second cooking in cases where the process is slowly and imperfectly performed Hostetter's Stomach Bitters is invaluable. It promotes the essential heat in the living laboratory in which the crude materials for building up and recruiting the human frame are changed into vital blood, the latter is the next step. It acts beneficially upon the cellular membrane which secretes the gastric juice, upon the liver which produces that natural laxative in the bile upon the vessels which convey digested food and upon the glands and ducts which connect the digestive organs with the channels of circulation. If any portion of this complex machinery is out of order the Bitters will set it right. Thus promoting vigorous digestion healthy secretion and the production of pure rich life sustaining blood.

That horrid tickling in the throat which produces a hacking cough is relieved at once by HALE'S HONEY OF HOREHOUND AND TAR.

Like a toothache drop cures in a minute.

Public speakers and singers will find Brown's Bronchial Troches beneficial in clearing the voice before speaking or singing, and relieving the throat after excessive use of the organs. For coughs and colds the Troches are effectual.

TUESDAY MORNING DECEMBER 9, 1873

Lines

Lost! Lost! Lost!
Gone to a watery grave
Lost far from their homes on the [illegible]
Beneath the Atlantic's wave.

'Twas an hour of dark despair
'Twas an hour of dark despair
When the long last wail [illegible]
Burst forth on the trembling air
Lost! Lost! Lost!
Gone to a watery grave
Far, far from their homes and their sorrowing friends
Beneath the Atlantic's wave.

The loving wife watching
Clasping her infant boy
And the aged by hairs and maiden bright
Who had fostered in naught but joy
Lost! Lost! Lost!
Gone to a watery grave
Far, far from their homes and their sorrowing friends
Beneath the Atlantic's wave.

But hark! on the morning breeze
Floating along the sea
Across a low soft note like the [illegible]
A seraph's mission is—
Saved! Saved! saved!
Borne to the world of light
Where [illegible] and storms never can come
Where the weary are at rest at night

Happy in realms above
Tuning their songs of joy,
Ever they sing their Saviour's praise
Free from the world's alloy
Saved! saved! saved!
Home to the world of light,
Where [illegible] and [illegible] never can come
And where there is no more night.

THE PRAIRIE DUEL

Fifteen years ago, when the Great West seemed to be much further west than it does to-day—a couple of [illegible] that "bet all creation," a tragedy, or [illegible] of one of the great prairie wars [illegible] by the few hunters and settlers occupying it as a district in itself and they called it Little Elk Prairie. Among the half-breed trappers who had built for themselves hovels of driftwood and brush on this bit of rolling plain was a huge hulking fellow of mixed French Canadian, Indian and negro blood whose name was Bendibow Laval. A complete savage in appearance his clothing whether in summer or winter never consisted of more than two garments—a ragged shirt and trousers the material of which was rendered problematical by age and dirt. The mass of woolly, tow-like hair by which his head [illegible] was crowned by something that had once been a portion of a hat, and his arms and legs [illegible] were almost [illegible] with [illegible] and [illegible] with holes cut in them to accommodate certain peculiarities of shape and special excrescence. From his huge size and muscular development, Laval was more than a match for any one of the dwellers of Little Elk Prairie, none of whom were "chicken-as regarded physical strength. Entirely devoid of education—for [illegible] not know one letter of the alphabet from another—nevertheless the great coarse fellow had a sort of chivalry about him which [illegible] not have been derived from his share of French blood. His appreciation of the benefits and etiquette of duelling was intense and he had more than once killed his "agonist in a fair fight. A much more dangerous man to deal with than Laval was Habakuk Sams, by origin a Yankee by name (genius, [illegible] by nature and by profession a [illegible] and long "Alonzo Hab" as he was called by the men of the plains, was a thin wiry man of middle age, with a brick red complexion and very light hair. He was an excellent marksman, and had a reputation of courage, shown in encounters with Indians and bears, but he always preferred mild stratagem to "MV or strength for the [illegible] of his foes. He had had several disputes with Laval, on the common basis of accusation that each was in the habit of stealing animals from the other's traps. This, in the eyes of the plains, was a supremely unpardonable offense. Men caught in the act have frequently been killed on the spot, and when the offender was an Indian there are traditions of his having been tortured before being put to death. Whether Hab Sams had [illegible] killed Laval by pilfering for creatures from the traps set by the latter never transpired. But Laval was a fur that was established beyond a doubt, when he was seen carrying to his hovel, one day, a black wolf, caught in a trap set by Hab, and which the latter had slain there purposely to test the honesty of his rival. Hab's first idea was to fire upon the pilferer of his property, and so end the matter without any need of further reference to appeal. On further consideration, however, he changed [illegible] Laval, and, taxing him with the theft, demanded restitution of his pelt or "reason why." Take that, then, howled the huge fellow, hurling the wolf at such a force at Hab that it knocked him down and sent him spinning a distance of several feet. In a moment Hab Sams had risen on one knee, and, taking aim at his antagonist, fired, but without effect, owing to the flurry caused by the suddenness of the attack. On proceeding to reload his rifle he remembered that he had no powder [illegible] Laval was in a similar predicament, for all the powder in the place had been expended in a recent hunt, and they were awaiting the arrival of a messenger with some from the nearest trading-post. Drawing their knives then the two approached each other for a deadly conflict, which would have been an unequal one however, owing to the superior strength of Laval, who was also a proficient in the use of the knife. Knowing how slight his chance was with such an antagonist, Hab Sams paused and looking fixedly at Laval, said, "If you are a man and not a cowardly sneak, you will fight it out with me in another way and give me an equal chance of my life." What would you propose to settle it, then?" said the other. "Pin as good as you anyhow, and ain't afraid to get square with you any way you please. Name your plan and I'll go you even on it." "Well then, rejoined Hab, there's what we'll do. If you have heart enough to do it as I have. Let's go to the place where the prairie dogs burrow away over there. The rattlesnakes that live there are big and unfailing with their deadly fangs. Let each of us choose a burrow, lie down in front of it, thrust his arm in to the shoulder and wait to see which of us will die first. You're too white-livered a fellow to fight it out that way with me, eh?" Fearful to back out from this horrible proposition lest his reputation for valor might become tarnished forever, Laval agreed to it, trusting that if one only keeps still rattlesnakes are not apt to bite. The matter was arranged as follows: They were to meet next morning, half an hour before sunrise with no witness, who was to act as umpire for both. The burrows into which they were to place their hands were to be selected by the umpire, who was to see them properly and impartially placed. There they were to remain until the first ray of sun beamed above the horizon a few minutes before, which it is the habit of rattlesnake to crawl forth from their dens. The umpire was to notify them of the rise of the sun at which moment they were to be free to go their ways should they have escaped the fangs of the venomous reptiles. The honor of both was then to be considered as fully satisfied, and from this there was to be no appeal. It must have been a terrible time, that quarter of an hour before sunrise to the waiting of the etiquette with which the duello ever has been rendered romantic. Perhaps Hab Sams did not feel it so acutely as his rival, for the reasons best known to himself. The first gleam of dawn now revisited upon the horizon and at a word from the umpire Hab Sams sprang to his feet expressing by a loud whoop his satisfaction and having come safely out of the terrible ordeal. Not so with his rival who lay where the umpire had left him motionless as a log. On examination it was found that he was in a death like swoon from which he was with difficulty recovered by the free use of whisky. Sheer fright had got the better of the man's brute courage, and he might have to break of death. Hab Sams, as [illegible] hinted, had reasons of his own for preserving his equanimity of mind throughout the [illegible] ordeal. A little after sunset the [illegible] when the rattlesnakes had retired for the night, he took the precaution of smuggling a [illegible] or [illegible] in that part of the prairie selected for the rendezvous with a sort of weed that is most noxious to the snakes covering the charged [illegible] many hours and [illegible] crawl or strike. This is how Yankee ingenuity triumphed over brute strength and [illegible] Bendibow was ever afterwards obliged to look up to Hab Sams whom he [illegible] as the bigger [illegible]

CITY.

MASS-MEETING

A mass-meeting of the citizens of Portland will be held to-day at two o'clock P. M., to take into consideration matters relating to the massacre by the Modoc Indians. Notice as to the place will be given by posters.

FROM SALEM.—We have been kindly permitted to read a private letter received in this city, dated a few days ago by a gentleman at the Capital, and make the following extracts. The Siletz Agency has been the scene of considerable activity for the last week, as the former agent has been turning everything over to the new agent, Mr. J. H. Fairchild. He has also been visiting and Christianizing of the Indians, and also to learn them to live like white people, by setting to each family a number of acres of land, so as to encourage them to be self-supporting, and take more interest in a farming life. The new agent means business from the start, and his employes are all in accord with him. Gen. Palmer fully and completely turned the affairs of the new Agent over to him. Quite a number assembled here yesterday to hear the farewell talk of Gen. Palmer, and to see the new agent and pow-wow with the Indians. The grand talk passed off pleasantly, and the presents of all parties consisted of [illegible] was distributed, and the day was slaughtered and a general feast took place.

MEETING.—A meeting of the True Reformers of the Multnomah Reform Club was held on last Saturday afternoon at Ladd's Hall, for the purpose of taking steps toward the commencement of an important and much needed educational institution. A committee was appointed, and duly accepted. One copy of the articles of association were directed to be filed in the office of the County Clerk, and one in the County Recorder's office. Pursuant to adjournment, a meeting of the fifteen directors, consisting of the following gentlemen, was held: Dr. Failing, Esq., was elected President, and J. K. Gill, Secretary. A committee was appointed to draft a set of by-laws for the institution and government thereof. This committee consisted of Messrs. Lair Hill, B. B. Taylor, Charles Failing, and Failing. The meeting then adjourned to the call of the Chairman.

ARRIVAL.—The following is the list of passengers per Ajax, which left San Francisco on her regular trip last Saturday: J W Parker, C T Brown, Jos [illegible], Chairman, D O Brownson and wife, R A Ohm, Wm [illegible], Capt S W [illegible] and wife, Miss Ida [illegible], John Bell, H T Price, Mrs [illegible], S H Mackie, C Trumbull, L B Cooper, J D Scharff, A J Cooper, W [illegible], wife and niece, Louis [illegible], Capt J Harlee, M Apple, H [illegible], E Payne, G P Merrill, [illegible], Mrs Dempsey, J G Davis, [illegible] Webb, A Milwain, Miss M E [illegible] and Wells, Fargo & Co's [illegible].

MUSIC.—Mr. Frederick Billings, of this city last fall with the Theodore Thomas Company of Divinities, was recently presented with a [illegible] from the Emperor of San [illegible], which was the first [illegible] was one of the favorites [illegible] Mr. Billings returned [illegible] with other [illegible] Pompey, just in time for the fourth anniversary of the Pioneer Association. The second was [illegible] Mr. Billings, who is sick; and the Circle Orchestra, county, Judge Upton, Circuit Courts, meeting at the same time, [illegible] a good deal of the legal talent from [illegible] days to come.

[illegible].—This evening the annual [illegible] will be held at the new Central [illegible]. The object of the meeting will be [illegible] the election of the Directors and Clerk [illegible] year, and also the report of the [illegible]. A tax for the support of [illegible] for the coming year will doubtless be levied. A full attendance of the tax payers [illegible].

[illegible].—All the chancery business [illegible] was disposed of by Judge Upton on [illegible], and the Circuit Court stands adjourned until the 23d of next month, when a special term will be held. The Court also concluded the business [illegible] in law and probate on Saturday last, and will not meet until next month.

A HAPPY HOME.—A physician's wife recently remarked to us, "We have had a happy home [illegible]." Explaining herself more fully, we learned that she had purchased of her daughter [illegible] Davis & Co.'s pianofortes from W. [illegible], and that its presence and sound had [illegible] to us to a home already attractive.

FINE SALMON.—A few days ago the steamer [illegible] took from several of the fisheries down the river 1,000 pounds of salmon for Astoria, which were [illegible] on board the Oriflamme. These were all this spring's catch, and are the first [illegible] of the present run.

[illegible], Esq., and William Crawford, Esq., [illegible] are in this city enroute for Europe, [illegible] they go on a visit to their old homes. [illegible] to take the Vienna Exposition be[illegible] a pleasant voyage to [illegible].

AT HALF MAST.—Flags are being displayed at half mast from every available staff in the city, and on all the shipping, in respect to the memory of the late Gen. E R S Canby, who so recently fell a victim to the perfidy of Captain Jack.

DISCHARGING BALLAST.—The barkentine Whistler is now discharging her ballast at Astoria, preparatory to loading with lumber for South America. She will load probably at Cementville.

STRETCHED.—The wire cable at the Stark street ferry, which was broken over a month ago by drift wood, has been stretched, and the boat is again making regular trips by "the rope."

A MAN KILLED.

Early yesterday morning Coroner Dryer was officially notified that a man was accidentally killed on Saturday afternoon on the farm of Mr. Rosenthal, about five miles north-east of East Portland. His at once started for the locality, accompanied by an undertaker. On arriving at the spot, and making an examination of the premises, he came to the conclusion that no inquest was necessary over the remains of the unfortunate man. The circumstances of the man's death are as follows: His name was Harry Donnelly, and he had been in the employ of Rosenthal for some months as a common laborer. Last Saturday morning Donnelly left the house and repaired to some timber several hundred yards distance to chop wood. Nothing more was thought of him until late in the evening. Darkness came on and Donnelly did not make his appearance. Supper was kept waiting some time, but as he still was absent, Mrs. Rosenthal sent two of her little sons down to the woods to ascertain what was the cause of Donnelly's absence. The boys went out as directed, but returned shortly with the intelligence that Donnelly could not be found. Soon after, Mr. Rosenthal came home, and taking with him a lantern proceeded to institute a thorough search for the missing man. After looking about for some time in the timber and thick underbrush, he discovered the dead body of Donnelly. It being too late to take any action in the matter, the remains were removed to the house and the Coroner notified of the facts the following morning. From an inspection of the premises, it was evident that Donnelly had met his death by a falling tree. He had just finished chopping down a small sized tree which, in its descent, fell across the trunk of a leaning one. The falling tree, on coming in contact with the leaning trunk, slid down towards the earth. This caused the butt to be suddenly thrown to one side, which dealt Donnelly a terrible blow on the breast, evidently killing him in a few moments. His breast and side was mashed almost to a jelly. From appearances, he had realized his danger and was using his utmost endeavors to make his escape when struck. After receiving the blow, he had managed to crawl away several rods before dying.

Donnelly was aged 50 years. He was by birth an Irishman, unmarried, and so far as known, had no relatives in the State. He fought through the late civil war, was in a number of engagements and received several wounds. Deceased was a steady, peaceable and industrious man. The remains were interred yesterday.

IN MEMORIAM.

HALL OF U. S. COURT ROOM,
SUNDAY, April 13, 1873.

At a special meeting of the Portland City Rifles, Capt. Alex. Campbell in the chair, the following preamble and resolutions were adopted:

WHEREAS, This Company, deeply deploring the cruel assassination of Gen. Canby by the treacherous and blood thirsty Modocs, while upon his mission of mercy to them,

Resolved, That our Government has sustained the loss of a "Brave Captain"—one who never knew fear, whose valor has shown itself upon many a battle field, whose deeds are recorded among those of our country's heroes, and whose noble character, charitable acts, and unassuming deportment in life has enshrined him in the hearts and memories of the old veteran, and the youthful soldier, who now so sincerely mourn his untimely death.

Resolved, That we tender to his stricken companion in life, our deepest sympathy for her loss, and may our Almighty Father, who "tempers the wind to the shorn lamb," give her strength to "bear the burden" and sustain her in this, her hour of affliction.

Resolved, That the Armory of this company be draped in mourning for the period of thirty days.

Resolved, That a copy of the foregoing resolutions be transmitted to the widow of the deceased.

ALEX CAMPBELL, Captain.
C. C. PHILLIPS,
H. D. CHAPMAN, Lieutenants.

Per order, C. H. DEXTER, Secretary.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

Rents coming down.

No vessels reported off the bar.

The river is once more receding.

The Mecanthon is overdue here

No fire alarms since yesterday week.

Work resumed on new Custom House.

We hear of several picnics on the tapis.

The country roads are rapidly drying up.

Saturday wasn't a good day for base ballists

Parlor fires will not be necessary much longer.

Quite a snow storm at Astoria on Saturday morning.

The next election will be the city election for Portland.

Happy is the man who can move his all in a collar box

A good many took their church on the street corners yesterday.

Colored eggs were much indulged in yesterday by the young folks.

Large quantities of shingles on the lot opposite O. S. N. Co's block.

A couple of equestrians made use of Pine street as a race track yesterday.

The theatre having closed, there is a dearth of amusements for the present.

Easter eggs were part of the 9 o'clock lunch at the Occidental last evening.

Several parties of ladies and gentlemen were out yesterday gathering wild flowers.

Buchtel's boys play ball at 4 and hold a business meeting at their rooms at 7 this evening

Thirty six tons of old iron was shipped to San Francisco on the brig Foster by Robert Lawson.

Several parties of anglers left the city yesterday for the various small streams adjacent to the city.

Steer clear of that portion of Stark street lying between Front and First. Whew! but that smell is lively.

Many of our citizens were roused yesterday morning by the clangor of the new bell in Trinity Church.

Gas is up to $4 per thousand feet in San Francisco have to rise a trifle higher to be on a level with Portland.

Hundreds of ladies and gentlemen visited East Portland yesterday to enjoy a pleasant stroll and the fine sunshine.

At the Cosmopolitan hotel is a potato formed on one side to appear like a face. They call it "Scar-Faced Charley."

Mr. Dexter, of the "City Rides," is working like a beaver to make the Company's ball a success. He has been there before.

"I Will Stand by My Friend," arranged by George T. Evans, published by Gray and sung by Vivian, and Emerson's "Going to Be Shooking," are the latest.

Stephen Mayball recited an original poem—"How to Pay the Rent"—before the Father Mathew Temperance Society in San Francisco on the evening of the 6th.

Fourth street was thronged all day yesterday with masses of humanity of all ages, and dressed in every variety of color. A more brilliant spectacle is seldom seen than these Sunday promenades.

A gentleman with a large quantity of Webfoot soil adhearing to the back of his broad cloth suit, attracted considerable attention by emitting a grunt of partisipates at a crossing on Third street yesterday.

A society has recently been organized in one of the Eastern cities by the ladies who indignantly resolve they will not trade where female clerks are employed. It destroys all the romance of shopping they say.

There is a boarding house "Marm" in the city whose economical tendencies lead her to place her boarders on an as allowance of matches. Every evening at tea she goes around and places a single match at each plate.

A restaurateur boasts that he recently palmed off a brace of gulls on an epicure for spring chickens, and he feels so elated over the success of his experiment that he intends to make the dish profitably fashionable.

A well known and highly esteemed postoffice clerk, with more feet than cheek, is contemplating the donation of his boot lasts to some charitable institution. It is alleged that the donation insures a supply of feet for six months to the fortunate charity of his choice.

Extensive preparations are being made by the "City Rifles" to offer a grand entertainment previous to the clearing of the floor for dancing on Thursday evening Benz. Mr. DePrans, the singing section of the Turn Verein, and a party of juvenile roller skaters will take part.

An ordinance ought to be passed requiring teamsters to hitch their horses. Occasionally the pedestrian will find a spirited animal held down by a ten-penny nail tied to his halter strap; others are found tied to shingles, pieces of plows, splinters or wagon spokes anything that can demonstrate that hitching has been done.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our regular correspondent has sent us the following news from the bay, under date of the 8th instant:

Mr. F. G. Lockhart has gone to San Francisco on business connected with his gold mine and the Isthmus and Coquille canal.

The Coos Bay Minstrels harmonize at Marshfield on the 12th. The band consists of some excellent performers.

Mr. Schetter has been appointed agent for the steamer Eastport at this place.

E Perry pleaded guilty before Justice Owens, to day, to a charge of mayhem, preferred by Nelson Thompson, who lost a considerable portion of his nasal protuberance by the cannibal propensity of the said Perry. Perry was bound over in the sum of $250, in default of which he was committed to jail. Perry and Thompson live at the Eastport coal mines

The Rudolph gold mines are creating considerable attention. These mines were discovered in 1853, and have been worked up gradually. I shall have more to say about this matter at another time.

The schooners B. H. Ramsdell and Glenarm and brig Kolea arrived, and the schooner Good Templar departed during the past week.

Two hundred tons of coal and 40,000 feet of lumber were shipped to San Francisco from the 1st inst. to date

The steamer Eastport is becoming more popular, as the arrival and departure of travelers attest.

Coos Bay promises to be a most attractive point for immigrants during the coming summer.

Weather improving.

OREGON.

Several head of cattle have recently died in Douglas county from eating poison weeds of some sort.

The Mount Hood postoffice has been re-established at Tygh Valley, with Mr. Hollingsworth as postmaster.

A son of Mr. Smith, hotel keeper at Forest Grove, has a bad cut on the head. His brother "did it with his little hatchet."

Parties are now engaged in cutting saw-logs in the vicinity of Ft. Hoskins, King's valley, for the purpose of rafting to the South Salem Saw Mill

A man named Glover was seriously injured by falling from a perch near Salem a few days ago. He was climbing upon it, and it being somewhat rotten, fell.

A farmer's club has been organized at Hubbard's, Marion county. J. W. Gwinn is President, J. R. Sanborn, Secretary, and H C. Dayton, Treasurer.

The old steamboat Reliance, out of use and lying at anchor in the slough opposite Salem, was burned up last Friday night. She was doubtless set on fire purposely.

Mrs. Duniway lectured to a full house at Lafayette last Thursday evening. She left on Friday for Hillsboro, intending to lecture there and at the neighboring towns.

The Forest Grovelites at their School meeting, voted a tax of $350 for the maintenance of a school during the year. A motion to levy a tax for building purposes was lost.

A Grange of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized in Polk county last week, by Mr. J. Campbell, a Deputy of the organizing officer of the Order in the United States.

The Mountaineer says Sheriff Schutz returned home on Monday evening from a trip to the extreme eastern portion of Wasco county. He found the people in that section getting along finely.

New Oakland is growing rapidly. Among the handsome residences being erected, is one by Mr. Alonzo Brown, town proprietor. Much of the business of the old town has been transferred to the new town.

The Corvallis Gazette of last Saturday says: "During the past week President Arnold has had the agricultural students out in full force, sowing wheat and oats received from the Department of Agriculture."

The election in Eugene City on Monday, for city officers resulted as follows: President of the Council, Joel Ware; Recorder, T. J. Holland; Marshal, Richard Rush; Treasurer, Mark Stevens; Councilmen, J. R. Ream, H. F. Stratton, W. Osborn.

The contract for stone and the construction of the University foundation at Eugene City, was let to McAlexander & Bowker, at $4 per perch in the wall. The contract for brick was not let. Experiments are being made in making brick on the grounds, which, if successful, will reduce the cost materially.

The Democrat's Ochoco correspondent, writing from Prineville, under date of March 20th, says the weather in that valley is pleasant, though windy. Farmers are about done putting in their crops. Grass is good and cattle are getting fat. A number of storehouses are being built at Prineville. The Odd Fellows are having a hall erected. Crooked river is very high.

The Gazette of Saturday says: In consequence of the illness of Judge A. J. Thayer, of this District, Judge P. P. Prim was telegraphed and requested to come and hold the April term of Court, which convenes next Monday. Judge Burnett received a dispatch from Judge Prim yesterday, stating that he would start immediately for the purpose of holding the Court. Judge Thayer was considered a little better yesterday—but not entirely out of danger.

Messrs. Harvey and Howell of Benton county, were driving, or rather breaking a span of young horses, attached to an empty wagon, when they became unmanageable and headed for a precipice. The men barely had time to escape from the wagon, when the excited team went over an almost perpendicular bluff some 35 feet. The horses escaped uninjured, but the wagon ditto, except the breaking of the tongue.

The Board of Commissioners of the South Oregon Wagon Road met on the 3d, and organized by electing Silas J. Day, Chairman, and E. C. Mason, Superintendent. The Commissioners expect to commence the survey from Ashland to Linkville about the 1st of May. J. S. Howard, of Jacksonville, has been selected by the Superintendent as surveyor of said road. They intend to have the road surveyed and ready to let contracts, from Ashland to Roseburg, by the first of June.

The Roseburg Plaindealer says: We examined yesterday some excellent lime, which was burnt from rock taken from the quarry belonging to Flinn Cooper and Asher Marks. In color and quality it is certainly a prime article, being remarkably free of core. In whiteness it equals the Santa Cruz lime. The quarry is situated about six miles south of this place and is quite accessible to the public road. The owners, Cooper & Marks, have burnt about three tons of the rock for the purpose of testing its quality and are naturally well pleased with the result. The very best proof of its excellence is the lime itself We are glad to learn that there is a large quantity of this superior lime rock in this vicinity, and we see no reason why the lime used in this State should not be supplied from this county.

Never Too Late to Mend.

When the stomach is in a state of chronic rebellion against every kind of food, and the attending physicians, with solemn and portentious gravity, declare that such cases of confirmed dyspepsia defy all remedies, do not put faith in his ipse dixit. Indigestion of this obstinate character may be incurable by his prescriptions, but it is not therefore an irremovable fixture to the system. The fact is that the great vegetable invigorant and corrective, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, is radically curing cases of this seemingly desperate nature every day. Indeed, it is in those malignant phases of dyspepsia which no ordinary medicine can control, that its remedial properties are most wonderfully manifested. We say to the long-suffering martyr, whose stomach is a source of perpetual torment to him, that by the persistent and daily use of this glorious tonic, he can not only restore the digestive organs to their full vigor, but can keep them in good working order through life If there is constipation, the gentle aperient operation of the Bitters will remove all obstructions, and keep the bowels in a regular and healthy condition. The grand characteristic of this vitalizing and purifying vegetable preparation is that it acts beneficially upon every organ, controlling the liver, reinforcing the nerves, toning the coats of the stomach, promoting a healthy habit of body, relieving the blood of all impurities, clearing the brain and reviving the spirits.

FASHIONABLE NOTES.

Belts of black velvet with silver buckles are the latest.

Round hats made of kid are the latest novelty in ladies attire.

The "Rubagas" bonnets will continue in favor until next spring.

The most fashionable colors in hats seems to be corn color and blue.

Immense crosses of dead gold are worn instead of lockets during Lent.

Fans of elephantine dimensions will be carried by our belles this spring.

Silver combs are supplanting the high backed tortoise shells in popular favor.

Red is the fashionable color in hair at present. Golden has gone "out" completely.

The latest style of bouquets have a live canary bird fastened on the top of them among the flowers.

The old fashioned mantilla, short and with long tabs, and trimmed with ruffles or lace, has also reappeared.

The Roman stripes appear in great variety in both ties for the neck and sashes, which will be universally worn.

The bonnet of the period is certainly a coquettish little trifle, almost sure to be becoming, especially to a young and pretty face.

The silver chatelaine-vinaigrettes, modeled after the Grœk "amphorae," are the most tasteful pieces of jewelry we have seen for years.

The ladies are all beginning to part their hair again, and find the old style very dignified and lady-like. The "poodle" style has been banished completely.

Small fichus are made in the same styles to wear over summer dresses, and have long rounded tabs which cross in front and are fastened at the back of the dress

The Amelia is a broad, pointed collar with deep tabs in front, made of rows of Valenciennes insertion, and bordered all around with a deep frill of the same lace.

Alpacas in the new shades of sage green, pinkish greys, and beautiful tints of blue, will be much worn. They may be trimmed with ruffles and folds of the same material, or of silk of the same shade.

The present week has been an eventful one in the fashionable world, many leading houses having announced their grand openings of the latest spring fashions—the large stores and private modistes have been literally thronged with curiosity seekers and customers.

A new style of rouge has made its appearance. It consists of a tablet of what looks like green tinsel, which when rubbed with a damp cloth gives a red pigment, which seems very natural when transferred to the cheek of metropolitan beauty. It is a Chinese invention

From present indications the bonnet is retreating from the top of the head to the back of the neck, were it rested fifteen years ago. Formerly the hair was dressed low in the neck, while the hat was placed upon the top of the head and tilted over the forehead, while now a sudden gush of fashionable caprice has sent the bonnet far back and brought the hair en masse to the front. So fashions change, and what we ridicule to-day we are as eager to emulate to-morrow!

Where two colors are employed in the same costume, there is often a second basque which corresponds in color with the underskirt; as, for instance, we noticed a very pretty and stylish walking suit of black silk and purple. The underskirt of black had two purple flounces and one black one between upon the back breadths. Upon the front there were five narrow flounces, alternating black and purple. A short overskirt of purple silk was simply scolloped and bound, and looped with flat bows of the same. Over this a sleeveless basque of purple was fashioned up the front. Black coat sleeves with deep cuffs of purple.

PLANTATION BITTERS!

S. T.—1860—X.

This wonderful vegetable preparation is the best cordial and tonic ever offered to the afflicted, as a beverage, for the debilitated. As a tonic and cordial for the aged and languid it has no equal. Being entirely vegetable, containing the purest medicinal virtues of the tropics, and entirely free from the fusel oil with which most of the cheap bitters are made, and which women are especially subject, it is superseding every other stimulant. In all climates, for the delicate, nervous or frigid, it acts as a specific in every species of disorder which undermines the bodily strength and breaks down the animal spirits.

MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT;

FOR MAN AND BEAST.

Probably few articles have ever had so extensive a sale, and in none have more universally given satisfaction than the MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT. Children, Adults, Horses and Domestic Animals are always liable to accident, and it is safe to say, that no family can pass a single season without some kind of an emollient being necessary. It becomes a matter of importance then to secure the best.

Over three hundred livery stables in the city of New York alone are using the MEXICAN MUSTANG Liniment, in all of which it gives universal satisfaction.

CAUTION.—The genuine is wrapped in a fine Steel Plate engraving with "O. W. Weatherbee, Chemist," and "Trade Mark, MEXICAN MUSTANG LINIMENT," engraved across the face of each wrapper. The whole bears the proprietor's private United States Revenue Stamp, and not a common stamp, as used by druggists.

CITY.

A PURITAN FIGURE-HEAD.—The figure head of the Puritan is quite striking, especially if [illegible] of the aforesaid figure-head is taken [illegible] st. It consists of a large, life-[illegible]ior, such an aboriginal specimen [illegible] our Puritan forefathers were [illegible]d against in the earlier days [illegible] Rock from his stalwart shoulders [illegible] robe made of the skins of wild [illegible] from his head waves the trade[illegible] of the "bold bird of freedom," [illegible] threateningly aloft, and the [illegible] keeping knife is grasped. [illegible] and arms are nude, with nothing [illegible] more what gentle modesty would [illegible] [illegible]ure of this bloodthirsty red[illegible] with a determined expression not [illegible]dropy and peace towards all [illegible] The hands of a tomahawk can be [illegible] from a wampum engirding his [illegible] of the general attitude of the fellow [illegible] of hostility, he would have no [illegible] on the carpet of any room [illegible] City [illegible]ners. Even Capt. Jack, [illegible] pacificities, could learn a les[illegible] in dignity of bearing and true warrior [illegible] by taking a casual squint at this [illegible] Ah! but a carved stick of [illegible] wampanoag to doom forever such [illegible] warrior to bloodless encounters with [illegible] and the swarming denizens of his [illegible]

[illegible] SHIP.—The American ship Puritan, [illegible] here yesterday evening in tow of [illegible] from Astoria, is one of the largest [illegible] that has ever visited this port at any pe[illegible] time. The Puritan is under command of [illegible] She came to San Francisco some [illegible] ago from Callao. At the former [illegible] entered to carry a cargo of flour [illegible] Hongkong. No cargo was re[illegible], but the ship proceeded [illegible] in ballast. Seventeen days [illegible] the passage from that port [illegible] of the Columbia river. Chutney [illegible] recently overhauled during the [illegible] repairs for the long passage. [illegible] Firmly a new vessel, having [illegible] at East Boston in 1868. Her length [illegible] 207 feet, hold 22 feet, with a register [illegible] of 1,713 tons. Wind and weather [illegible] over the bar without delay [illegible]. She is a staunch, [illegible] vessel. She is carrying ballast [illegible]. Flour, of which the cargo is [illegible], will be received on board when[illegible] Oregon ports.

[illegible] SHIP.—A pair of [illegible] on the bark Pal[illegible]. Nautically. These ships are very [illegible] in appearance to the ordinary wild [illegible] beast of North America, the outer being [illegible] and the legs longer. The whole body of [illegible] is much lighter and more elastic. An[illegible] they [illegible] [illegible] is that a portion [illegible] has a strong pungent odor [illegible] to meat. This peculiarity, however, [illegible] to the flesh, which is said to be as [illegible] flavored as the wild geese of [illegible]. Captain Forbes states that these [illegible] elevated portions of the Falkland [illegible] [illegible] plains having a less altitude [illegible] 2,000 feet above the level of the sea. [illegible] are very scarce, even in the Islands, [illegible] in Honolulu having never [illegible]. On account of being rare they [illegible] [illegible] price. The pair brought here [illegible] O'Reilly was accustomed [illegible] pair, a native having been asked [illegible] sixty miles to obtain them.

[illegible] SAFE.—On Monday evening about [illegible], the roof of Mr. Isaac Smith's [illegible] the corner of Stark and Twelfth [illegible] was discovered on fire. A mild gale was [illegible] at the time, and the fire was unusually [illegible] blown from the chimney flue and [illegible] the roof. Swift was first on the [illegible], and on his blaster fire was perceived. James Wall was the first person who [illegible] the danger. He procured a pail of [illegible] from the roof and in a moment extinguished the fire. On [illegible] reaching that the [illegible] fire, the family were [illegible] their fears quickly subsided when [illegible] the danger was passed. No fire [illegible] Insurance Company and the [illegible] would have been in order.

[illegible] The present warm weather is [illegible] above the snow in the mountains, [illegible] a change in the stage of [illegible]. Bear Creek. Bear water from that [illegible] the Willamette and is causing [illegible] on the higher banks, [illegible] that the annual [illegible] and a consequent subsidence [illegible] may be reasonably expected until [illegible], or until the heat of summer [illegible] the mountain snows into water. A continuance [illegible] in all that is required to [illegible] of the water. Low portions of the [illegible] will in this way to be submerged in a [illegible].

[illegible] FIRE.—The [illegible] fire at the [illegible] Company's dock, clearly demonstrated [illegible] of having ladders placed along the [illegible] at intervals, to facilitate persons [illegible] in the event of similar emergencies. [illegible] the roof of the dock was discovered [illegible] some little delay was occasioned [illegible] difficulty of reaching the fire. A [illegible] rushing from the eaves to the [illegible] [illegible] was noticed. Certainly a [illegible] [illegible] Stark street lamp was detained [illegible] of the river last evening for [illegible]. The [illegible] of the det[illegible] [illegible] portion of the wire cable [illegible] [illegible] had cut [illegible] of the wire rope [illegible] the pulley choking [illegible] in its step. Before the [illegible] [illegible] to splice in the [illegible].

[illegible] The improvements [illegible] the Council, on Ninth [illegible] are nearly completed. [illegible] G and Q, a plank [illegible] 16 feet in width, is added [illegible] to the established [illegible] Stark to Montgomery, [illegible] and new walks are being [illegible].

[illegible] The [illegible] paddy was put [illegible] days ago beyond the summit [illegible], and a gravel train is now [illegible] with the machine. Im[illegible]ts are being brought down [illegible] Couch's Lake under the [illegible]. Earth will be thrown around [illegible] and rents solidly on as [illegible].

[illegible] This vessel, Captain Forbes, arrived [illegible] morning from Astoria in [illegible] Bay. The Falkinberg sailed [illegible] on the 22d of April, and arrived [illegible] a passage of eighteen days. Good [illegible] are guaranteed throughout the [illegible] quantity of sugar, molasses [illegible] which is now being discharged [illegible].

[illegible] Mr. G. L. DePraus has [illegible] a new piece of music, just is[illegible]. The title of this late produc[illegible] is "Memorial March" dedicated to the memory [illegible] of U. S. S. Canby. The music is ar[illegible] by Oswald Wildar, and is [illegible]. A splendid lithographic pic[illegible] adorns the first page of the [illegible].

[illegible] At present the little steamer [illegible] is lying near the Willamette Iron [illegible] works, a new cabin built on top of the [illegible] and [illegible] inconvenient one. The pilot [illegible] is about ten feet. The improve[illegible] will substitute the adding of new [illegible] to the smokestack. In about two [illegible] she will be ready for service.

[illegible]—In taking a stroll through the [illegible] of the city yesterday, we observed [illegible] of neat, small cottages in various [illegible] of the city. Notwithstanding the cry [illegible] and the stringency of money, the [illegible] for the present season will not be [illegible] and expense than those made last [illegible].

[illegible]—The band came down yester[illegible], and accompanied a number of [illegible] who went down the river on the E. N. [illegible] ing to [illegible] Senator Mitchell.

MOVED OVER.—The old wooden building, long used by Carson & Porter as a sash and door factory, has been moved from its old site, directly north of the Steamship Company's office, to a point near the corner of G and North Front streets, north of the Clarendon Hotel. This building we learn, will be used as a warehouse.

NOT DEAD.—Mr. Peter Coe, of Eugene, desires us to state that he is enjoying good health, which is proof that he is not the person reported as having been murdered in Polk county last week.

SOON READY.—The bark Oenya is still loading with railroad iron at Astoria. This vessel will complete her cargo and be ready to sail for San Francisco on Saturday.

ARRIVED.—The bark Rival reached Astoria on Monday, from San Francisco. She came in ballast, and will load with lumber at Cementville.

LOCAL BREVITIES.

COMMISSIONERS' COURT—HAMILTON, J.

TUESDAY, May 13, 1873.

In the matter of the relocation of the county road leading from Cornelius Slough to the Columbia river; ordered that the Supervisor of District No. 4 maintain the line of said road, and, if necessary, employ the County Surveyor to survey the said road.

Ordered that the Clerk enter monthly in the Journal of this Court a summary of the reports of the Treasurer and Clerk.

Ordered that the County Clerk make an account of all moneys paid by the county on account of insane patients sent to the Asylum from this county, and send the bill to the Secretary of State to be paid from Insane Fund.

A Massachusetts man lately sold twenty-three dozen patent medicine bottles, all of which had been emptied in his family.

W. Friedlander, opposite the Post office, still continues with his New York prices for Watch work. He charges for cleaning a watch ONLY two dollars, for a mainspring, $1 50, for watch-glass, 25 cents.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hargren & Shindler.

If you want pure, fine liquors of any kind, go to E. D. Tyne's, northwest corner of Oak and First streets, agent for the sale of Jessie Moore & Co.'s fine Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies of Louisville, Ky.

Mr. John Kennedy, [illegible] of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, is now at the San Francisco Shoe Store with [illegible] & Orme, where he will be pleased to wait upon his friends and customers, with one of the largest and finest stocks of boots and shoes on the coast. He will also continue to take measures for ladies' custom-made shoes.

A number of dry goods boxes emptied of their contents led the public to believe that something new had just been opened, and upon closer inspection it was found that the boxes were addressed to J. O'Neil & Co., 95 First street, who had but a few moments before piled up in their store an extensive and varied stock of clothing, gents' furnishing goods, and cloths of fine texture for the manufacture of spring styles in gentlemen's and boys' clothing.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an occasional marine or railway disaster, and the dull times, and the prospect of buying clothing at a figure not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The piece has been found where you can buy men and boy's clothing, or gentlemen's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldman's, corner of Front and Washington street, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be selected from.

The Times says Dr. Walpole has lost his beautiful [illegible] mare. She died [illegible] in harness; little support from hops or pin worms. If the Doctor had used [illegible] Cowden's Dandelion Tar-ters, he would, no doubt, have had his mare to-day. They are death on worms.

CAUTION.—In our changeable climate, coughs, colds, and diseases of the throat, lungs and chest will always prevail. Croup, consumption will claim its victims. These [illegible]. If attended to in time, can be arrested and cured. The remedy is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Lung troubles must be treated at once. Neglect of them brings sorrow, pain and regret. Thousands have told of the utmost miraculous effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. For coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all lung troubles, it is unequaled.

A first class photograph is worth a good price. A poor one is of no value whatever. Therefore the motto of Bechtel & Stolte is—Superior work, equal to any in the United States, for which we demand a good price, and receive the same. Our new Viewing Wagon, for Scenic Views, is now ready, and all orders for pictures of buildings, etc., promptly attended to, at the First Premium Gallery, No 91 First street, Portland, Oregon.

Chapped hands are very common with those who have their hands much in water. A few drops of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment rubbed over the hands two or three times a day will keep them soft and white. Fishermen, sailors and others will do well to remember this.

SOZODONT.—All dentrifices had their drawbacks, until the salubrious Bark of the Soap Tree was brought from the Chilian valleys to perfect the fragrant Sozodont, the most wholesome, reliable and delightful article for the teeth, that a brush was ever dipped into. 22

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES.

Iowa and Colorado owe no man anything.

More than 20,000 men find employment in the Nova Scotia fisheries.

New Hampshire talks of postponing its annual election to September.

Vienna is building six new theatres to amuse visitors to the Exposition.

An arch young lady should be an archer, for she can bend her beau as she pleases.

It is proposed to run a train from Boston to Portland, Me., 115 miles, in three hours.

A San Francisco paper recently headed its leading editorial: "The truth for a change."

If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, he would draw his hat over his eyes.

The Memphis Avalanche says this year's cotton planting in the Southern States will be the most extensive since the war.

According to a Cretan correspondent of the Levant Times, an antique statue of Venus has been found near the village of Ipis.

The New York Legislature has a bill before it which provides that every room above the ground floor of a hotel shall be provided with rope ladders.

The new census of Germany shows that out of a population of about 41,000,000, there is an excess of females amounting to three-fourths of a million!

The editor of a popular magazine declares that 100,000 women are constantly sending poetry to him, the commonest subject treated being "Our Dead Baby."

The Augusta Journal predicts that the coming season will be the busiest in the ship yards of Maine since 1855, unless the builders are crippled by the want of means.

A Virginia paper laments the fact that one Southerner can now call another a liar, rascal, or even a horse thief, without fear of having to eat his words or take a bullet.

The Bible Society Record states that of the seven million women in Spain, not 10 per cent. can read, and not 5 per cent. can write; and the proportion is little better among the men.

An Iowa dealer, who sold several pumps, "to be paid for when Greeley was elected," recently brought suit against his customers for pay. Judgment was given for the defendants, with costs.

A student, undergoing his examination, was asked what was the mode of action of disinfectants. He replied: "They smell so bad that the people open the windows, and the fresh air gets in."

A British merchant writes to the London Times that, having contracted to deliver certain hardware in Canada, he found it cheaper to get the goods manufactured in the United States than in England.

A Memphis skeptic proposes to test the spiritual mediums in that city by offering a prize of $100 to any one who will answer correctly a number of written questions deposited in a bank safe.

Flute playing is becoming a fashionable accomplishment among English young ladies, and that in the future many, instead of abusing a piano, will do violence to the feelings of a flute, or breathe a gentle melancholy into it. "Fluting" has long been considered an essential by American young ladies.

Pigeons knew of only three misfortunes—Sleeping in a cold room in winter, wearing tight shoes in summer, and sleeping in the same room with a crying child which one can't whip. The same cynical individual remarked, "There is nothing more disagreeable than a piece of good fortune that comes too late."

A Detroit man bought a horse the other day, and, not finding him all that the jockey's fancy painted him, applied a dye to the animal that made him a lovely black, and resold him to the dealer. In about two weeks the animal was resold to the first purchaser, his appearance having undergone another change, and now Detroit is interested to know which of the men ought to sue the other.

In regard to the new and rising political power in the West, among the rural population, it may be stated, that scarcely two years have elapsed since the first grange, or lodge of the Order of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized in the State of Iowa, and now granges are to be found in almost every community of farmers, in twenty-two States of the Union, and the aggregate membership is estimated at 1,200,000. In Iowa they claim 106,000 patrons, while there are said to be still a larger number in Illinois.

The officers of the British Parliament who took possession of the office of the East India Company sent 300 tons of the records of the company to the paper-makers, including all the valuable records of the company for more than 250 years. A chance paper, blown from one of the carts on the way to the pulping-tanks, proved to be a letter from the famous Duke of Buckingham, dated December 1st, 1619, and revealed to the public the great loss sustained in the destruction of these documents. Stupid officials are not confined to one country or continent.

The deepest well ever sunk is supposed to be that in the village of Sperenberg, about twenty miles from Berlin, Prussia. This well has been bored to the extraordinary depth of 4,194 feet, or about four-fifths of a mile. It was begun five years since by the authorities, with the view of obtaining a supply of rock salt, which they struck at a depth of 280 feet; and, when the boring was stopped at the point above indicated, the bit was still in the salt deposit, which was thus shown to have a thickness of nearly 3,000 feet. The diameter of the shaft was originally 16 feet, but was soon reduced to 13 inches.

Lately in an English steel manufactory, after the starting of the engine, the belt came off the governor shaft, which caused the engine to run at a greatly accelerated speed, the consequence being that the fly-wheel, 26 feet in diameter, and weighing 60 tons, flew asunder with a loud report, the fragments of which, eight in number, were projected with destructive effect into the works. The roof of the mill was brought down, the boilers, rolls, and machinery of the mill greatly damaged, while other fragments were projected beyond the building with equally destructive results. Nearly all the workmen in the building were more or less injured. It is doubtful whether any case of this kind is upon record which can equal this one in violence.

PULLING A HIPPOPOTAMUS' TOOTH.—Not long ago the old male hippopotamus at the garden suffered much from a decayed tooth. In former times he would have been shot, as was poor Chunee, the elephant at Exeter 'Change. Mr Bartlett, superintendent of the Zoological Gardens, with his ever ready talent in meeting all emergencies, determined to pull out the tooth. He ordered his blacksmith to make a pair of tooth forceps, and a tremendous pair they were. The "bite" of the forceps just fitted the tooth of the hippo. By skillful management Bartlett managed to seize Master Hippo's tooth as he put his head through the bars. The hippo, roaring frightfully, pulled one way, while Bartlett and the keepers pulled the other, and at last out came the tooth, and Hippo soon got well again.—London Paper.

MILLINERY GOODS.

COTTON.—The Montgomery Advertiser, speaking of the cotton crop for 1872, says: "The money paid for it in its raw state will not fall short of $330,000,000; of this sum about $35,000,000 will have gone to speculators and first purchasers, leaving $295,000,000 to the producers. Alabama's share of this magnificent sum is nearly $35,000,000, estimating her crop at 400,000 bales." This report speaks well for the South. It looks like the flood tide of olden prosperity. If the raw material produced brings such immense wealth to the South, what may we expect when this material shall be manufactured into goods near the spot where it is grown? This is one of the possibilities for which the South should labor. She should encourage home industry, and through her own factories appropriate to herself the profits that are daily enriching others. We believe the day is not far distant when the looms of the South will confer greater wealth upon her people than the cotton grown on her soil.

A mass meeting of Spiritualists is to be held in Cincinnati from the 22d to the 26th of May, inclusive.

Full of glee spake [illegible]-A[illegible], all legs and curly hair:
"You read of [illegible] the man they hung, and all the people there;
And [illegible]-read the funny part, of how it made him [illegible]."

Joining quickly in, cried Minnie [illegible] waist and dimpled cheek:
"It wasn't half so funny, though, as that about the [illegible]
They [illegible]-ught somebody forging, 'cause he was so gla[illegible],
I 'spect."

"But the think I liked the best, Aunt," Alonzo piped amain,
"Was how somebody [illegible] away, and wasn't come back [illegible]-gain,
And took a [illegible]-body's wife with him upon a rail-road train."

"Then you weren't listening, Lonzo," came swift from [illegible]-nie, small,
"When papa read about the girl that took her only shawl
And wrapt a baby up in it, and left it in a hall."

"Oh I wasn't, boy!" trilled Minnie, [illegible]-ded to be out-[illegible]-doors
"I'm going to learn to read myself; and you can have the Sun;
And I'll read Herald's 'Personals,' and never tell you one!"

HUMOROUS.

A father and two sons, a few years ago, [illegible] in Iowa. The undutiful [illegible] are dead. The unhappy parent to the verge of insanity by trying to explain the relationship of the children. If you think it's a trifling matter, just try it.

"A North country paper," says Figaro, "in criticising the performance of a pianiste a few weeks ago, said that 'her wonderful fingering showed her magnificent talons to the greatest advantage.' Of course it was the lady's feet that were intended to be praised."

Mark Twain, a few months after his first baby was born, was holding it on his knee. His wife said, "Now confess, Samuel, that you love the child!" "I can't do that," replied the humorist, "but I am willing to admit I respect the little thing for its father's sake."

A farmer out in Vicksburg, Miss., was considerably puzzled in getting upon a nest of hen's eggs. At last accounts she had succeeded in getting three chickens safely from the shell, and has hopes of a large brood. Cats are not fond of eggs, but chickens at a tender age are to them an [illegible] delicacy.

A New York paper says: "A young lady of this city was recently struck with the [illegible] of her life, and immediately went to work with vigor to learn plain sewing. At last accounts she had basted one side of a towel, which the proud parents have framed and hung in a conspicuous position in their parlor."

The [illegible] of members of the Legislature for sobriety [illegible] to be neither bad in [illegible]. Two of them were [illegible] noisily drunk on a railroad train the other day, and when the conductor came [illegible], one of them [illegible], "Do you not know, sir, that I am a member of the Legislature?" The conductor [illegible] replied, "You've got the sympathy [illegible]."

A [illegible] giraffe lately [illegible] feet is now being [illegible] at the Zoological Gardens of the Acclimatization Society in the Bois de Boulogne, Paris. The [illegible] will be about 18 feet at an altitude of 15,000 feet by a [illegible] 3,000 feet in length. The [illegible] are the most known on any ordinary railway. The workmen employed are [illegible] the only operatives who can [illegible] for a prolonged period the [illegible] at this [illegible] elevation.

A Paris [illegible] is quite anxiety for saying [illegible] kindly at the Closerie des Lilas a lady in [illegible] said, kindly, to a gentleman [illegible] and [illegible] on her for some [illegible]. "Ah, Madame," replied the [illegible], "if you [illegible] you [illegible] so much!" It is unnecessary to add that the gentleman remained [illegible].

[illegible] says: "Capt. Alexander, of the North regiment of [illegible], who died a few days ago, left a [illegible] gray [illegible], at [illegible] to be shot, and a [illegible] this asset was [illegible] out, the [illegible] and the pheasant broke. The [illegible] has bequeathed to her [illegible] Newfoundland dog. If the [illegible] had been good both Capt. Alexander and [illegible] broken before [illegible] will see that."

[illegible] who pays a good [illegible], was [illegible] by his son [illegible] family with a [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] the [illegible] and be into [illegible] at least he felt sorry for [illegible] he had had with that boy, for [illegible] he had [illegible] and for the [illegible] had wished [illegible] several [illegible]

The Daily Oregonian.

MONDAY MORNING, AUGUST 4, 1873.

THE FIRE—ITS RESULTS AND ITS LESSONS.

In another column will be found all that is yet be told of the particulars of the ... room conflagration of last Saturday. The OREGONIAN has had four reporters engaged in collecting the particulars, and yet ... are the ... and so ... the ... of finding out all the ... in which so many people are concerned, that the ... record is very far from ... plete, though it is as nearly so as it could be ... up to this date. Many persons are ... yet to state their own ... personally, and ... now are absent from the city, so that our reporters were ... called to take their information at second hand. The actual loss, however, will not be found to differ widely from the ... given.

... city had not yet recovered from the ... of the ... tive fire of last De... , but ... buildings into ... of this one. ... are the ... of Dr. ..., but ... are ... to bear in ... to ... The fire ... was ... of the ... and the property was a very ... by means of superior ... that ... was ... within the ... to ... with ... by all ... Even ... have lost ... which ... half worked to ... the ... and ... the next ... .

The Supreme Court, on Saturday last, ... to Tuesday next, when it will ... decree in three of the cases submitted ...

... is a system that will allow us to have fire plugs at every corner, and that will make these available without engines—whether by the gravitation system, or the direct application of force from pumps, is of little consequence. The Holly system, or any system that would have enabled us to use the engines as a special and auxiliary means, and fought the flames from every side at the same time, and directly from the mains, would have saved half the property destroyed by this fire—enough to construct such works with distributing mains throughout the city.

Fourth—It is not the word of effect our narrow streets that they give the city the appearance of being crowded and unhealthful, nor that they are inconvenient as thoroughfare for travel and commerce. They form but little protection against the spread of fires. The distance of sixty feet from a building enveloped in flames, is too near for firemen to stand and battle with the fire. The heat sets buildings on fire on the opposite side in a few seconds.

Some of these lessons we can heed. In one there are legal objections to any attempted reformation. But there ought to be the least possible delay in effecting such reformation in all the ... as would ... the city as far as human foresight can ... it. It is a shocking ... that ... only ... the noble ... that ... are ... but when ... of ... have ... the ... half wasted to ... the ... and ... the next ... .

THE IOWA TRAIN ROBBERY.

INTERESTING DETAILS OF THE OUTRAGE BY AN EYE-WITNESS.

Mr O P Killingsworth of Omaha, who was among those of the Postoffice Department was on duty on the train on the Chicago and Rock Island Railroad, which was thrown from the track and robbed by a party of masked and armed men on Monday night last, has furnished the Davenport (Iowa) Gazette with an interesting account of the affair from which we quote as follows:

To begin with he said the Express Car that night from Omaha was very light—in fact Messengers Burgess told him before the accident that he had the smallest amount in his safe he had carried for months although there were three tons before—gold and silver bricks. All the doors of the car except that was handily portable except by dray. Well the train left the Bluffs on time, and was making splendid time when the stoppage occurred. At first time the parties in the express car were Division Superintendent Royce, Albert Fick, Express Messenger, and Messrs Killingsworth, Burgess and Claire. There was a sudden and slight slack of speed and the report of the guns outside aroused their attention. Bullets pattered about Mr Royce, and Fick grasped the side of Fick's head. In a moment more there was a violent concussion of the air, and the train stopped at one end, shoved forward, and then careened at an angle of forty-five degrees. Of course pandemonium reigned in the express car, and the inmates were considerably mixed up before they righted up. They had hardly recovered their uprightness when the door on the left hand side of the car was opened, the upper being shot—showing a man with a revolver in his hand. He entered, and was followed by one of the robbers, as was ascertained afterwards. No sooner had he entered, than he was followed by another, who was above the average size, and had a villainous countenance. He was dressed like a [illegible]. They all appeared to be [illegible] which they leveled at the heads of the inmates. The second in command then ordered Burgess to give up the gold and silver bricks on the floor, saying, "Throw them under your feet." The robber replied, "We don't want them things; give us the bullion, or we'll blow your brains out." Mr Killingsworth pointed to the bullion on the floor, saying, "Here it is

CITY.

AN ANCIENT PAINTING.—Probably one of the oldest paintings on this [illegible] can be seen at the show window of Ettel & Co., on [illegible] St. This venerable painting, like every [illegible] of old relic of art, has quite a [illegible] of romance mixed with a shade of romance. The age of the painting is over 200 years. It is said to be from the brush of Murillo or Velasquez, so well known in the history of [illegible] as the exact authorship being involved in some doubt, owing to its extreme age. This painting was brought from Spain to Mexico very many years ago. By an accident it fell into the hands of a family residing in Mexico. During one of the civil revolutions which have frequently distracted that [illegible] land this family fled to California, before the discovery of gold. More than twenty years ago an old Frenchman named Charles Veryden saw the painting, took a great fancy to it, and bought it for the sum of $250. While the Fraser river gold discoveries were at the highest pitch of excitement Veryden visited British Columbia, taking with him this old painting. Meeting with many reverses of fortune, Veryden became much reduced in circumstances, and at length was [illegible] to offer this old and highly-prized painting for sale. Mr. Dudley Evans, the [illegible] in this city for Wells, Fargo & Co., was in Victoria about a year since. He heard of the painting, its romantic history, and Mr. Veryden's desire to dispose of it. Terms were soon [illegible] upon between Mr. Evans and Veryden, and the article was transferred to the [illegible] gentleman. When Mr. Evans came to this city [illegible] months ago, he brought this and [illegible] along over with him. On account of its great age and the historic associations which cling about the painting, Mr. Evans would not part with it for a large sum. Recently he has had it set in a rich gilt frame. The picture is about 18x14 inches. It represents an old [illegible] on the ground before a large [illegible], and [illegible] a high cliff of rock. Both hands are [illegible] stretching towards Heaven, while his eyes [illegible] with [illegible] him. A long [illegible] of hair [illegible] his [illegible] and [illegible] eyes, while his hands are [illegible] with the [illegible] appearance, and his long [illegible]-like [illegible] shows that [illegible] have left their [illegible]. The [illegible] has portrayed this [illegible] with life and [illegible], and notwithstanding [illegible] age none of the colors [illegible] dim. The [illegible] of the [illegible] is set [illegible] and [illegible] with a simple [illegible].

DEATH OF MR. BRYANT.—The Masonic Fraternity of this city and West Portland will today perform the funeral rites of that Order at the burial of their late brother, C. C. Bryant, according to notice published elsewhere. The deceased was well [illegible]. He was attacked with paralysis about two years ago, and has been [illegible] ever since. The second attack came on [illegible] morning about six o'clock, as he was [illegible] out of his bed at his home in East Portland. The night was very stormy, [illegible] the cold state of the heart, which had [illegible] from [illegible].

ONE OF THE [illegible] English W. O. B. [illegible] has the following [illegible] from that [illegible] which will test [illegible] in the [illegible]. Will [illegible] No. 1 [illegible] will send [illegible] near with revolving [illegible] (Signed) WHEELER, TAYLOR & CO. From this it will be [illegible] that one of the [illegible] are on hand the other will be [illegible] on Friday.

YAMINA MAIL.—By which mail we received [illegible] by which last [illegible] turned to the Dalles from the [illegible] we [illegible] the [illegible] as far as [illegible] that [illegible] was at [illegible]. The [illegible] who [illegible] Alex. [illegible] [illegible] able to appoint [illegible] in the [illegible] of these [illegible]. However, Two [illegible] of earth has to be thrown off to get at the bedrock, and then [illegible] [illegible].

[illegible] From the Auditor and Recorder's annual report, [illegible] appearing before the Board of [illegible] of East Portland, we learn that the following amounts of money remained in the City Treasury on the 1st of the present month: [illegible] Street Fund [illegible] General Fund [illegible] Sinking Fund [illegible] School Fund [illegible].

QUARTERLY REPORT.—The East Portland Dramatic Club is still in a flourishing condition, and lively discussions are held each week at the Council Chamber. A variety of subjects are debated—social, political and religious. Next Friday evening the following subject will be [illegible]: "Should the liberties of the people should be [illegible]."

CHANGE OF VENUE.—In the Circuit Court, yesterday morning, a motion was made by the counsel for the defendant in the case of State vs. Charles Mealey, for a change of venue. Several affidavits were opened, the motion on which the application was based. The motion was argued at length and [illegible] by the Court. The case will be decided this morning.

WEATHER REPORT.—From the records of the U. S. Signal Station, Portland, Oregon, Nov. 17, 1873:

	7 A.M.	2 P.M.	9 P.M.
Thermometer	40°	50°	45°
Wind	[illegible]	[illegible]	NE
Weather	Cloudy.	Clear.	Clear.
Rainfall			0.09 inches

NOT GUILTY.—The jury in the case, on Saturday, in the Circuit Court, [illegible] returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of the State vs. Ed. [illegible], in which the defendant was charged with having committed the crime of adultery, and was [illegible] with Julia McKenzie.

STILL IN COURT.—Dr. C. G. Gill, who was committed for contempt of court last Saturday, is still in the county jail, not being able to obtain bonds. His counsel have given notice that a writ of habeas corpus will be applied for this morning, and argued.

POPULATION.—The mothers of East Portland are certainly prolific, if facts amount to anything. During the past month there has been six births, all within the limits of that municipality. Her big sister over here throws up the sponge.

THE MAILS.—The southern mails are delayed about every other day, owing to a failure of the stages to connect at Roseburg. We presume Postmaster Cole will try the steamer route when the delays are more frequent.

FINES.—During the past year, ending with November 18, the total amount collected from fines in East Portland imposed in the Recorder's Court for violation of city ordinances, is $181.

READY TO BE RENTED.—Those desiring stalls in Bunnell's new market are informed that the proprietor is now ready to let them. Some have already been engaged.

PERSONAL.

We had the pleasure of a call yesterday from our esteemed fellow-citizen, Hon. A. G. Cook, who has returned from an extended business visit to Scotland. During his absence in that country, Mr. Cook has accomplished much in the way of inducing immigration to our shores. He is a firm friend of the great Northwest, and his invaluable labors cannot but result in great good to our State. We trust that they will also result in profit to himself. We welcome him back.

Ben Holladay, Esq., and Mr. James O'Meara, editor-in-chief of the Bulletin, were passengers by the steamship Oriflamme, which left this port for San Francisco on Saturday last. Mr. Holladay's health is said to be in a precarious state, and we hear that he goes to California for medical treatment. He was so ill that it was necessary to carry him in a chair aboard the steamer. Mr. O'Meara is on his way to Washington City, D. C.

The finest display of Foreign and Domestic Fruits to be [illegible] at W. [illegible]'S, 129 First Street, is immense [illegible] thing of the year. Go and see it.

AMENDMENT TO JURY RULE No. 11.

Last Friday, soon after the discharge of the United States Grand Jury, the following application was filed by the Attorney:

In the District Court of the United States for the District of Oregon: Now comes the United States District Attorney and moves the Court for a venire.

First—For a venire for a trial jury, as there are a number of cases in said court for trial.

Second—For a venire for a Grand Jury for the reason that the last jury ignored bills in one class of cases, when in fact the judgment the evidence showed that crimes had been committed. A. C. GIBBS,

U. S. District Att'y for District of Oregon.

The application was taken under advisement by the Court. Yesterday morning the following orders, amendatory of Rule 11, pertaining to the manner of drawing and summoning grand and trial jurors, were made by Judge Deady:

Ordered that Rule 11, of this Court, be and the same is hereby amended so as to read as follows:

Grand and trial jurors shall be selected and summoned as follows:

I. The Court shall order the selection from the last assessment roll or rolls of any county or counties in the District of not less than 150 names of "the most competent and permanent citizens" of such county or counties, who shall also have the qualifications prescribed by section 918 of the Criminal Code of the State of Oregon, and not be exempt from liability to act as a juror as prescribed in section 919 of such Code, to serve as grand and trial jurors in this Court, until the following year or a new selection be made.

II. Such selections shall be made within thirty days from the date of the order requiring it, by the Marshal of the District and the Clerk of this Court, together with the United States Commissioner, resident in the county from which the selection is made, or a majority of them; provided, that in the selection to be made from the names of persons on the assessment rolls of Multnomah county, the Register in Bankruptcy shall be [illegible] a United States Commissioner for this purpose.

III. The officers making such selections must [illegible] the names of the persons selected to [illegible] together with [illegible] of residence and occupation of each one of them, and [illegible] this into their [illegible] to the material [illegible] of each selection, and deliver the same to the clerk, who [illegible] the same in his office, and write the names thereon on separate ballots, and [illegible] them in a jury box as provided in section 925 of such Code.

IV. Whenever grand or trial jurors are ordered in this Court, they must be drawn from the names in such jury box by the Clerk and Marshal aforesaid, in the presence of the Register aforesaid, in substantially the manner prescribed in [illegible] (on page of the code aforesaid; and the names of the persons so drawn as grand or trial jurors shall be [illegible] in the venire, and they shall be summoned by the Marshal in the manner prescribed in section 931 of said Code, at least ten days before the time at which they are required to appear in Court, unless otherwise directed in the venire.

V. The ballots drawn shall be kept and disposed of as [illegible] 934 and 936 of said Code.

VI. If from any cause there shall be a deficiency, in whole or in part, of jurors selected and drawn as aforesaid, the Court may order a sufficient number of qualified persons to be [illegible] by the body of the district to [illegible] as jurors [illegible], as the case may be.

In the matter of the selection of jurors to serve as grand and trial jurors in this court.

Now at this day is ordered that fifty persons be selected for the counties of Multnomah, Clackamas and Washington, respectively, as prescribed in rule 11 of this Court, to serve as grand and trial jurors therein.

In the matter of [illegible] Grand Jury:

Now at this day comes the District Attorney, Mr. A. C. Gibbs, and gives the Court to understand that the Grand Jury heretofore impanneled in this Court, and lately discharged therefrom, ignored bills in one class of cases when the evidence showed that crimes had been committed, and asks the Court for an order for a venire for a Grand Jury. Therefore it is ordered that the names of twenty-three persons be drawn from the jury box, as directed in rule 11 of this Court, and that a venire [illegible] to the Marshal commanding him to summon such persons to be and appear in this Court on Tuesday, December 2, 1873.

BUSINESS NOTICES.

Make a note of it—O'Neil & Co.'s notice in another column.

Wells, Fargo & Co. offer the room they now occupy for rent, besides fine rooms in their new building.

Messrs. Beck & Son announce the fact that they are the Oregon agents for the California Powder Works.

By all means call at Harris & Prager's, corner Front and Alder streets, and see the goods they have just received.

Those who have been to Wilhoit Springs know how to appreciate the soda water found at that place. Martin has some in bottles at a very low price. Dyspeptics should buy a dozen. It is sure to do its work complete.

KEEP OUT THE COLD.—During the winter months everybody is anxious to avoid the severity of the weather, and various modes are resorted to in carrying out the best means of keeping warm. While BECK & WALDMAN are selling clothing from their immense stock at extremely low prices, it would be well to call in and select a winter suit. They keep the best, sell as low as any house, and do not propose to be outdone by any other house in the city. They are to be found at the old stand, S. W. corner Washington and Front streets.

No Reduction—low prices all the time at Stone's Jewelry Store.

DECISION IN U. S. DISTRICT COURT BY JUDGE DEADY.

U. S. District Court—District of Oregon, Saturday, Nov. 15, 1873.

The Bark Disco—In Admiralty.

Articles describing a voyage, from England to the United States and back, held not to include ports on the Pacific coast.

DEADY, J.

This suit is brought by Frederick Small and seven others against the British bark Disco, to recover a balance of wages alleged to be due them.

It is admitted that the libellants are American citizens, and that they shipped on the Disco at Cardiff, Wales, in March, 1873, for the monthly wages of £3. That the bark sailed to Montevideo with a cargo of coals, and thence to Portland, Oregon, where she arrived Oct. 31st.

The libellants allege that the master in bringing them around Cape Horn departed from the voyage agreed upon and described in the shipping articles, and therefore they are entitled to their discharge and wages.

The decision of the question at issue turns upon the construction to be given to the shipping articles. They describe the voyage as follows:

"From the port of Cardiff, Wales, to any ports and places in the United States and British and foreign West Indies, and east side of South America and Gulf of Mexico, and back to a final port of discharge in the United Kingdom of Great Britain and British Provinces. Term not to exceed twelve calender months."

Subsequently the words "twelve calender months" were crossed out with scarlet colored ink and the words, "Two years, and west coast of North or South America, and back to United Kingdom or continent of Europe," written thereafter in the same ink.

This clause, if valid, justifies the voyage to Portland. But, under § 163 of the shipping act of 17 and 18 Vict., it is void. That § provides: "That every erasure, interlineation, or alteration, in any such agreement" (shipping articles) with seamen, "shall be wholly inoperative, unless proved to have been made with the consent of all the persons interested in such erasure, interlineation or alteration, by the written attestation of some shipping master, justice, officer of customs," etc.

There is no evidence upon this subject. The alteration stands unexplained, and, in the language of the act, is wholly inoperative.

Do the articles, without the addition of these words, justify the voyage? For the libellants it is maintained that they do not, when fairly construed; while the contrary is urged on behalf of the claimant.

Literally the voyage to Portland, Or., is within the language of the articles. This port is a place within the United States. But I do not think that an agreement made in England to make a voyage to the United States would ordinarily be understood as including a voyage round Cape Horn to the ports of the United States on the Pacific coast. Two circumstances tend strongly to show that such was the light in which these articles were [illegible] by the parties to them, when entered into, at Cardiff, Wales. All the places mentioned, except the United States, lie wholly on the east side of the American continent. If it was understood that the vessel might make a voyage to San Francisco or Portland as ports within the United States, why take the trouble to mention the east coast of South America, and thereby exclude the west coast of that country, when both coasts would lie in the line of a voyage to any port in the United States on the Pacific coast?

Whoever made this alteration in the articles, is properly presumed to represent the owners. They have been in the custody of the ship. Now the very making of the alteration admits that the articles were insufficient to warrant the taking of the crew on a voyage to a port in the United States on the Pacific coast. Had it been otherwise, there was no necessity for making the alteration.

The vessel was up for Montevideo when the crew shipped, and taking all the circumstances into consideration, I am well satisfied that the agreement was understood to limit the voyage of the ship to the eastern coast of the Continent of America.—[See The Ada, Davies, 407.

Ship-masters and owners have ample means and facilities for putting their contracts with seamen in plain language; and so the law of both Great Britain and America intends and requires.

If through negligence or design they fail to do so, and allow or procure articles to be signed, which are indefinite or ambiguous upon a matter of so much importance to the seamen as the difference between a voyage across the Atlantic and around Cape Horn at the dead of an Antarctic winter, this court will resolve the matter in favor of the seamen and against the party in fault.

An order will be entered referring the case to a Commissioner to hear the evidence and state an account between the libellants and the vessel.

COOS BAY ITEMS.

Our Empire City correspondent writes under date of Nov. 11th as follows:

Marshfield is a busy place just now and expects to run ahead of Empire some of these days.

There were some five arrivals last week and only two departures, one of which was the Ivanhoe, to Portland.

L. P. Mansur's sawmill on the south fork of Coos river, was destroyed by fire on the 9th inst. Cause—an accident.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Williams has been making things lively here the past few days, having nipped two or three different persons on different charges.

Among the late arrivals was the schooner John Hancock, a former Government vessel, being a part of Commodore Perry's squadron in the Japan expedition in 1853.

The return of the Ivanhoe, the pioneer packet in the Coos Bay and Portland trade, is looked forward to with interest. It is to be hoped the business will justify her in remaining in the trade.

Have you a severe wrench or sprain? Have you rheumatism in any form? Have you a stiff neck, or bunches caused by rheumatic pains? If so, Johnson's Anodyne Liniment is a specific remedy, used internally and externally.

For the finest Watches, Jewelry, Clocks, Plated Ware, etc., go to Stone's.

We often see a large stock of cattle which do not seem to thrive, and come out "spring poor," all for want of something to start them in the right direction. One dollar's worth of Sheridan's Cavalry Condition Powders, given to such a stock occasionally during the winter, would be worth more than an extra half ton of hay.

Samaritan Lodge No. 2, I. O. O. F.—Meets every Wednesday evening at 7½ o'clock, in Odd Fellows Temple, corner of First and Alder streets. Members of the Order are invited to attend.

By order of N. G.

The Board of Trustees of East Portland met last evening at 7 o'clock.

Members present—Messrs. Buckman, Hoyt, Foster, Stephens and President VanCleave.

Minutes of the previous meeting read and approved.

PETITIONS, ETC.

A communication was read from L. Samuel in relation to the publication of the necessary number of ordinances in his forthcoming Directory, and the stipulated price. Referred to the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses.

REPORTS.

The Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses, to whom had been referred some financial matters, reported pro forma and asked for further time. Granted.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom had been referred the report of the Street Commissioner in relation to the special street tax, reported favorably to its acceptance. Report adopted.

The same committee, to whom had been referred the ordinance relative to the transplanting of shade and ornamental trees, reported the ordinance back, recommending an amendment. Adopted.

A communication was read from the City Attorney in relation to the suit of Currier vs. the City of East Portland, for a refused claim of $35, which the plaintiff alleged was due him for services rendered in attending a smallpox patient. The Attorney stated that the suit had been decided adverse to the city. The matter was referred to Committee on Judiciary, who were instructed to consult with attending physician, and learn from that person all the particulars of the case. They were then to report to the City Attorney and exercise their own judgment about advising him to settle the claim or appeal the case to the Circuit Court.

The annual report of the City Clerk and Recorder was read and referred to the Committee on Accounts and Current Expenses.

The claims of O. B. Johnson for $10 50, and N. Clinton for $2 60, were audited and ordered paid.

The Committee on Streets and Public Property, to whom had been referred the matter of the construction of an apron at the foot of J street, reported that the further consideration of the petition be indefinitely postponed. Adopted.

ORDINANCES.

The ordinance providing for the planting of shade trees within the city limits was read third time and passed.

MISCELLANEOUS.

Mr. Severson moved that the Street Commissioner be instructed to prepare and hand into the Board a list of those who are delinquent in the special street tax. Prevailed.

On motion of Mr. Hoyt, the Street Commissioner was instructed to confer with the County Court at its next session and ascertain if the county would be willing to defray half the expense of constructing the Fitch bridge. The motion prevailed.

ELECTION OF OFFICERS.

Mr. Severson moved, that the Board proceed to the election of a City Marshal. The motion prevailed.

On the second ballot F. R. Neale was elected.

It was next moved and carried that the Board proceed to the election of a Street Commissioner.

After four ballots were cast and no officer elected, it was moved and carried that the election of a Road Supervisor be indefinitely postponed.

On motion adjourned.

Prof. J. D. White, the young and popular elocutionist, will give one of his pleasing and instructive [illegible] this evening at Good Templar Hall. An excellent [illegible] is offered the public. Worth and Alder all to attend. The entertainment promises to be a rare treat.

"Sunset" Cox was elected to Congress by a large majority, to succeed James Brooks, deceased. His friends now say that, upon the assembling of Congress, he will introduce the following resolution:

"WHEREAS, Owing to the condition of the country at present, and the critical aspect of finances [illegible], and as a [illegible] during the last session of this body for an increase of the [illegible] of the members, after the operation has been found to be injurious to the best [illegible] of the people, be it resolved that said bill for the increase of salaries in this city be rescinded."

Don't get crazy about the gold mines, or a probable [illegible], but settle down to business just where you are, and when you take a notion to invest in a new suit of clothing and desire anything in the nobby and elegant in that line interview J. O'NEIL & Co. on the subject. They don't put on any big prices, but always endeavor to satisfy on first acquaintance. You can't leave their place without entrusting an order to their attention.

A Cough, Cold, or Sore Throat, requires immediate attention, as neglect oftentimes results in some incurable Lung Disease. "BROWN'S BRONCHIAL TROCHES" will almost invariably give relief.

Loss of [illegible] may mean a general breaking up of the life forces, or it may indicate the effects of obscure disease contracted in early life. In either case Dr. Helmbold's Buchu is the sure specific. It restores the functions of manhood, and renovates the entire system. It acts upon both the liver and kidneys, and is justly entitled the Great Diuretic. Get the genuine. All druggists sell it. John F. Henry, New York, Sole Agent.

Worn to a Shadow.

Flesh, muscle and mind alike deteriorate when the stomach fails in its duty and the bowels do not perform their part as scavengers of the system regularly and naturally. In chronic dyspepsia the body is usually emaciated, and the muscular fibres loose and flabby, and the pain incapable of prolonged or vigorous exertion. Every organ, every member, even the immortal mind itself, is to a certain extent dependent upon the stomach for support. Strengthen and regulate this feeder of the system with Hostetter's Stomach Bitters, when it fails to perform its functions properly. A good appetite, an increased flow of the gastric juice, and perfect digestion and assimilation will assuredly be the result. The manner in which the great tonic and alterative effects a cure of dyspepsia is direct and simple. It stimulates the digestive organs, cleanses without convulsing the bowels, regulates the flow of bile and determines it into the right channels, and exercises a tranquillizing influence over the nerves.

COMMISSIONER'S COURT—HAMILTON, J.

TUESDAY, May 13, 1873.

In the matter of the relocation of the county road [illegible]ding from Clackamas Slough to the Columbia river, [illegible] the [illegible]oor of District [illegible]. Commissioner [illegible] of said road, and, if necessary, employ the County Surveyor to survey the said road.

Ordered that the Clerk [illegible] monthly in the Journal of this Court [illegible] of the reports of the Treasurer and Collector.

Ordered that the County Clerk make an account of all moneys paid by the county on account of insane patients sent to the Asylum from this county, and send the bill to the Secretary of State to be paid from Insane Fund.

A Massachusetts man lately sold twenty-three dozen patent medicine bottles, all of which had been emptied in his family.

W. Friedlander, opposite the Post office, still continues with his New York prices for Watch work. He charges for cleaning a watch only two dollars, for a mainspring, $1 50, for watch-glass, 25 cents.

If you want the woven wire bed, parlor and bedroom suits, the best spring and pure hair mattresses, go to Hurlburt & Shindler.

"If you want pure, fine liquors of any kind, go to E. D. Ty[illegible], north [illegible] of Oak and First sts., agent for the sale of Jessie Moore & Co.'s fine Old Bourbon and Rye Whiskies of Louisville, Ky.

Mr. John R[illegible]dy, [illegible] of the Philadelphia Shoe Store, is now at the San Francisco Shoe Store with [illegible] & Co., where he will be pleased to wait upon his old friends and customers, with one of the largest and best assortments of boots and shoes on the Coast. He will also continue to take measures for ladies' custom- [illegible] and gaiters made to order.

A number of dry goods boxes emptied of their contents led the public to believe that something new had just been opened, and upon closer inspection it was found that the boxes were addressed to J. O'Neil & Co., 96 First street, who had but a few moments before piled up in their store an extensive and varied stock of clothing, gentlemen's furnishing goods, and clothing of fine texture for the manufacture of spring styles in gentlemen's and boys' clothing.

The public mind has been somewhat agitated with the Modoc war, an [illegible]ional marine or railway disaster, and the dull [illegible], and the prospect of buying clothing at a [illegible] not large enough to clean a man to the bedrock. The place had been found where you can buy men and boys' clothing, or gentleman's furnishing goods, at the very lowest prices. It is at Beck & Waldstein's, [illegible] of Front and W[illegible] streets, where a full assortment of men and boys' clothing, in the latest styles, can be [illegible] from.

The N[illegible] says Dr. Walpole has lost his beautiful [illegible] mare. She died [illegible]ly in harness; it is supposed from bots or pin worms. If the Doctor had used [illegible] by Ousley & [illegible], he would, no doubt, have had his mare to-day. They are [illegible] on wo[illegible]

CAUTION.—In our changeable climate, coughs, colds, and [illegible] of the throat, lungs and chest will always prevail. Consumption will claim its victims [illegible] these [illegible], if attended to in time, can be [illegible] and cured. The [illegible]y is Dr. Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry.

Lung troubles must be treated at once. Neglect of these brings sorrow, pain and regret. Thousands have told of the almost miraculous effects of Wistar's Balsam of Wild Cherry. For coughs, colds, bronchitis, and all lung troubles, it is unequaled.

A first-class photograph is worth a good price. A poor one is of no value whatever. Therefore the motto of Buchtel & Stolte is—Superior work, equal to any in the United States, for which we demand a good price, and warrant the same. Our new Viewing Window, for Scenic Views, is now ready, and all orders for pictures of buildings, etc., promptly attended to, at the First Premium Gallery, No 91 First street, Portland, Oregon.

Chapped hands are very common with those who have their hands much in water. A few drops of Johnson's Anodyne Liniment rubbed over the hands two or three times a day will keep them soft and white. Fishermen, natives and others will do well to remember this.

STOP IT.—All Dentrifices had their drawbacks, until the salubrious Bark of the Soap Tree was brought from the Chilian valleys to perfect the fragrant Sozodont, the most [illegible]reshing and delightful article for the teeth, that a brush was ever dipped into.

MISCELLANEOUS NOTES.

Iowa and Colorado owe no man anything.

More than 20,000 men find employment in the Nova Scotia fisheries.

New Hampshire talks of postponing its annual election to September.

Vienna is building six new theatres to amuse visitors to the Exposition.

An arch young lady should be an archer, for she can bend her bean as she pleases.

It is proposed to run a train from Boston to Portland, Me., 115 miles, in three hours.

A San Francisco paper recently headed its leading editorial: "The truth for a change."

If the best man's faults were written on his forehead, he would draw his hat over his eyes.

The Memphis Avalanche says this year's cotton planting in the Southern States will be the most extensive since the war.

According to a Cretan correspondent of the Levant Times, an antique statue of Venus has been found near the village of Ipis.

The New York Legislature has a bill before it which provides that every room above the ground floor of a hotel shall be provided with rope ladders.

The new census of Germany shows that out of a population of about 41,000,000, there is an excess of females amounting to three-forths of a million!

The editor of a popular magazine declares that 100,000 women are constantly sending poetry to him, the commonest subject treated being "Our Dead Baby."

The Augusta Journal predicts that the coming season will be the busiest in the ship yards of Maine since 1855, unless the builders are crippled by the want of means.

A Virginia paper laments the fact that one Southerner can now call another a liar, rascal, or even a horse thief, without fear of having to eat his words or take a bullet.

The Bible Society Record states that of the seven million women in Spain, not 10 per cent. can read, and not 5 per cent. can write; and the proportion is little better among the men.

An Iowa dealer, who sold several pumps, "to be paid for when Greeley was elected," recently brought suit against his customers for pay. Judgment was given for the defendants, with costs.

A student, undergoing his examination, was asked what was the mode of action of disinfectants. He replied: "They smell so bad that the people open the windows, and the fresh air gets in."

A British merchant writes to the London Times that, having contracted to deliver certain hardware in Canada, he found it cheaper to get the goods manufactured in the United States than in England.

A Memphis skeptic proposes to test the spiritual mediums in that city by offering a prize of $100 to any one who will answer accurately a number of written questions deposited in a bank safe.

Flute playing is becoming a fashionable accomplishment among English young ladies, and that in the future many, instead of abusing a piano, will do violence to the feelings of a flute, or breathe a gentle melancholy into it. "Fluting" has long been considered an essential by American young ladies.

Pigeons know of only three misfortunes—Sleeping in a cold room in winter, wearing tight shoes in summer, and sleeping in the same room with a crying child which one can't whip. The same cynical individual remarked, "There is nothing more disagreeable than a piece of good fortune that comes too late."

A Detroit man bought a horse the other day, and, not finding him all that the jockey's fancy painted him, applied a dye to the animal that made him a lovely bay, and resold him to the dealer. In about two weeks the animal was resold to the first purchaser, his appearance having undergone another change, and now Detroit is interested to know which of the men ought to sue the other.

In regard to the new and rising political power in the West, among the rural population, it may be stated, that scarcely two years have elapsed since the first grange, or lodge of the Order of the Patrons of Husbandry was organized in the State of Iowa, and now granges are to be found in almost every community of farmers, in twenty-two States of the Union, and the aggregate membership is estimated at 1,800,000. In Iowa they claim 100,000 patrons, while there are said to be still a larger number in Illinois.

The officers of the British Parliament who took possession of the office of the East India Company sent 300 tons of the records of the company to the paper-makers, including all the valuable records of the company for more than 250 years. A chance paper, blown from one of the carts on the way to the pulping-tanks, proved to be a letter from the famous Duke of Buckingham, dated December 1st, 1619, and revealed to the public the great loss sustained in the destruction of these documents. Stupid officials are not confined to one country or continent.

The deepest well ever sunk is supposed to be that in the village of Sperenberg, about twenty miles from Berlin, Prussia. This well has been bored to the extraordinary depth of 4,194 feet, or about four-fifths of a mile. It was begun five years since by the authorities, with the view of obtaining a supply of rock salt, which they struck at a depth of 280 feet; and, when the boring was stopped at the point above indicated, the bit was still in the salt deposit, which was thus shown to have a thickness of nearly 4,000 feet. The diameter of the shaft was originally 16 feet, but was soon reduced to 13 inches.

Lately in an English steel manufactory, after the starting of the engine, the belt came off the governor shaft, which caused the engine to run at a greatly accelerated speed, the consequence being that the fly-wheel, 26 feet in diameter, and weighing 60 tons, flew asunder with a loud report, the fragments of which, eight in number, were projected with destructive effect into the works. The roof of the mill was brought down, the boilers, rolls, and machinery of the mill greatly damaged, while other fragments were projected beyond the building with equally destructive results. Nearly all the workmen in the building were more or less injured. It is doubtful whether any case of this kind is upon record which can equal this one in violence.

PULLING A HIPPOPOTAMUS' TOOTH.—Not long ago the old male hippopotamus at the gardens suffered much from a decayed tooth. In former times he would have been shot, as was poor Chunee, the elephant at Exeter Change. Mr. Bartlett, superintendent of the Zoological Gardens, and his ever ready talent in meeting all emergencies, determined to pull out the tooth. He ordered his blacksmith to make a pair of tooth forceps, and a tremendous pair they were. The "bite" of the forceps just fitted the tooth of the hippo. By skillful management Bartlett managed to seize Master Hippo's tooth as he put his head through the bars. The hippo, roaring frightfully, pulled one way, while Bartlett and the keepers pulled the other, and at last out came the tooth, and Hippo soon got well again.—London Paper.

COTTON.—The Montgomery Advertiser, speaking of the cotton crop for 1872, says: "The money paid for it in its raw state will not fall short of $330,000,000; of this sum about $35,000,000 will have gone to speculators and first purchasers, leaving $295,000,000 to the producers. Alabama's share of this magnificent sum is nearly $35,000,000, estimating her crop at 400,000 bales." This report speaks well for the South. It looks like the flood tide of olden prosperity. If the raw material produced brings such immense wealth to the South, what may we expect when this material shall be manufactured into goods near the spot where it is grown? This is one of the possibilities for which the South should labor. She should encourage home industry, and through her own factories appropriate to herself the profits that are daily enriching others. We believe the day is not far distant when the looms of the South will confer greater wealth upon her people than the cotton grown on her soil.

A mass meeting of Spiritualists is to be held in Cincinnati from the 22d to the 26th of May, inclusive.

THE FIRE—ITS RESULTS AND ITS LESSONS.

In another column will be found all that can yet be told of the particulars of the disastrous conflagration of last Saturday. The OREGONIAN has had four reporters engaged in collecting the particulars, and yet so many are the difficulties and so complicated the work of finding out all the facts where so many people are concerned, that the terrible record is very far from complete, though it is as nearly so as it could be made up to this date. Many persons are unable yet to state their own losses accurately, and some few are absent from the city, so that our reporters were compelled to take their information at second hand. The actual losses, however, will not be found to differ widely from the figures we give.

The city had not yet recovered from the effects of the destructive fire of last December, but that dwindles into comparative insignificance in presence of this one. Not only are the losses in this fire several times greater than those of December, but they are harder to bear in proportion to their amount.
